

Hits On Missile Cruiser

Shore Guns Silenced By Destroyers

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese shore batteries scored two hits on the U.S. guided missile cruiser Canberra during a ship-to-shore duel Wednesday, the U. S. command announced today, but the hits caused only light damage.

The American command said the shore batteries were silenced by fire from the Canberra's 8-inch guns and the 5-inch guns of two accompanying destroyers.

The two enemy rounds made only one half-inch hole in the Canberra's deck and did minor damage to some nearby life rafts, the Navy said. No American casualties were reported.

The three U.S. Navy ships were attacking a Communist battery of 57mm guns 15 miles north of Dong Hoi, the major port in the southern part of North Vietnam. U.S. shells from three other Navy ships came within one mile of Dong Hoi, the American command reported.

The Canberra is one of the U.S. Navy's two heavy cruisers which can fire supersonic guided missiles, but the missiles are designed to combat aircraft, not ground targets. The 17,500-ton Canberra is named for the Australian cruiser which was sunk with the Vincennes and the Quincy in the first battle of Savo Island on Aug. 9, 1942.

South of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam, Viet Cong mortarmen kept up their attack on the big U.S. guns which began firing into the southern part of North Vietnam last week, but again no damage to the 175mm American cannon was reported.

The Viet Cong fired 180 mortar rounds at the U.S. Marines' big guns today, the U.S. Command said, bringing the total enemy fire in the last three days against U.S. Marine positions just south of the demilitarized zone to more than 1,800 rounds. The mortar fire today came from within the demilitarized zone, the American command said.

'Resisted' Pressure To Kill Story

FRANKFURT, Germany, (AP) — A weekly newspaper reports the U.S. Army's chief information officer in Europe was relieved of his post after resisting high-level pressure to kill a news story in Stars and Stripes, the armed forces daily.

The Overseas Weekly, a privately owned newspaper that is sold to U.S. servicemen in Europe, said in a copyright story in its latest edition that Col. George E. Moranda was transferred to the Pentagon after opposing elimination of a story on the arrest of Michael A. McGhee, 19, son of the U.S. ambassador to Bonn, George C. McGhee.

The younger McGhee was arrested Jan. 31 in Santa Cruz, Calif., charged with driving an automobile while under influence of the hallucinatory drug, LSD.

On Feb. 3, in Santa Cruz, Municipal Court Judge Donald May said he had accepted forfeiture of $345 bail instead of requiring McGhee to appear in court.

The weekly, citing "unimpeachable sources," said a member of the U.S. Embassy staff in Bonn had sought to keep the story out of Stars and Stripes. The ambassador himself had already left the country to be near his son, who is a student at Cabrillo Junior College at Aptos, near Santa Cruz. They left Santa Cruz together Feb. 3.

New Types Of Warfare Add Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says Communist casualties in Vietnam have increased 40 to 50 per cent in the past three months because of intensified U.S. military action.

But he implied to newsmen Wednesday that new types of U.S. warfare in Vietnam — including mining of key North Vietnam rivers and ground and sea artillery bombardment of the North — do not represent an escalation of American efforts.

He said the moves resulted largely from a cutback in bombing because of bad weather.

He offered the Communist casualties only in percentages, not specific figures.

The House is set to vote today on a bill providing $4.5 billion more for the intensified military effort this fiscal year. Little opposition is expected.

The Senate passed an authorization for the funding 89 tons Wednesday after hotly debating an amendment that urged no further expansion of the war while backing President Johnson's efforts to negotiate for peace.

House debate on the military appropriation bill is expected to be limited. But Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee announced in advance he'll try to tack on $15 million to furnish the Marine Corps aircraft equipped with radar-jamming devices.

Book Shaw On Charge Of 'Conspiracy'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Clay L. Shaw, wealthy retired director of the International Trade Mart, has been booked on a charge of "conspiracy to commit murder" in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's first arrest in the Kennedy assassination investigation.

"There will be more arrests, a considerable number of them," said Garrison, who has been conducting a probe of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy for the past five months.

Shaw, 54, a decorated Army major in World War II, was released on $10,000 bond after his arrest Wednesday night. His luxurious French Quarter home was searched for nearly three hours by Garrison's agents.

The dozen men who made the search carried away five cardboard boxes filled with various items, including books and a gun in a canvas case — a rifle or shotgun.

Shaw is ruggedly handsome and silver-haired. He brushed past newsmen without a word when he was released from central lockup after being booked, fingerprinted and mugged.

He was arrested in Garrison's office, where he had appeared for questioning, in response to subpoena.

Garrison has vowed to prove that a conspiracy conceived in New Orleans "culminated in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy" in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Caution On Warmer Weather Driving

Chief of Police William E. Miller Thursday cautioned Sedalia motorists that the advent of warmer weather would bring more children to areas used by motor vehicles and urged local drivers to exercise added care.

The word of caution followed an accident Wednesday in which a 12-year-old boy was hurt, not seriously, when a bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car.

'Blueprint' Challenge Is Accepted

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes told a group of Trenton business men at a luncheon today Missouri's government is accepting the challenge to come up with a blueprint for the future.

He was referring to the dedication earlier of the Green Hills Regional Planning Commission, the third such agency in the state. He described it as a "new and pioneering concept."

"No nation, state, county or city can live in isolation — in self-sufficient splendor, he said. "The soaring sixties emphasized that."

Today, the move toward regional planning on the local level is a step in this direction, he said, leaving autonomy of decision in the hands of the local citizens.

Among some of the problems Hearnes envisioned as being tackled through regional planning were:

1. Development of programs for the physically and mentally handicapped.
2. Coordination of recreation, and expansion of public parks, forestry, and other space activities.
3. Providing for clean water and sewage disposal.
4. Expansion of technical and vocational training facilities.
5. Serving needs of the elderly persons through better housing and a more secure and pleasant future.

One of the chief concerns for regional planners, Hearnes said would be to develop a program to hold the young people in the community. This would require jobs that would give them security now and in the future, and an environment in which they and their children could live pleasant and healthy lives.

"Our younger citizens are the gold coins of this generation. Their success will reflect the extent of our investment in their lives."

Accident Figures For City For February

Officer Clarence Harrell of the Sedalia Police Department released the accident figures for the month of February for Sedalia. The figures for February of this year show a decrease in the number of accidents in the city in comparison with last year. The figure for last year for February was 64 accidents with 17 injuries, compared with 43 accidents with 16 injuries this year.

Total for January and February of this year is 116 accidents and 27 injuries, in comparison with 117 accidents and 26 injuries a year ago.

Vote Clark Nomination Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee quickly and unanimously approved today the nomination of Ramsey Clark to be attorney general.

The committee voted after a 35-minute open hearing, most of it spent in congratulating the new Cabinet appointee.

Not a critical word was uttered as the committee examined Clark, whose nomination President Johnson sent to the Senate two days ago. He had filled the post on a temporary basis for the last five months.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was more concerned with the effect the retirement of Clark's father, Justice Tom C. Clark, would have on the Supreme Court lineup.

Justice Clark has said he will step down by June to avoid any potential conflict of interest.

"I only wish we had more men on the Supreme Court like your father," McClellan told Clark. "I only hope that whoever is appointed to succeed him will share his views, especially on some of these recent decisions which have done great damage to law enforcement."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said he agreed.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., asked Clark about two explosive topics: civil rights and the Supreme Court rulings on the treatment of criminal suspects.

Clark said the nation needs more study to determine the effect of court decisions on law enforcement.

See Trouble In Powell Ban Affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has barred Adam Clayton Powell, its most controversial and flamboyant figure — but may have trouble making the ban stick.

While the Harlem preacher relaxed at his Bahamian fishing retreat at Bimini, his attorneys termed Wednesday's action of the House "unconstitutional." They raised the threat of a federal court suit to overturn it.

The House itself may have to deal with the matter again, perhaps within two months. A special election will be held to fill Powell's seat and there is every likelihood he again will be elected to fill the post he has held 22 years.

"It will come back to haunt the House," said Rep. Emanuel Celler, the venerable New York Democrat, after the House rejected 222 to 202 the recommendation of his select committee to seat the Negro Democrat with a stiff censure, a $40,000 assessment and the loss of all seniority.

The action also rejected leadership from both parties, who had backed the committee action, and led to the final ouster 307 to 116.

"If I were representing Adam Clayton Powell," Celler told reporters, "I'd take the case to court right away. I think he's got a good case."

US, Soviet To Begin Talks To Curtail Missile Spread

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he has gotten personal confirmation from Premier Alexei Kosygin that the Soviet Union is willing to begin discussions with the United States on possible ways to limit the spread of both offensive and defensive missiles.

Johnson, holding his second news conference in four days, said he had written Kosygin on Jan. 27 to propose that the two governments discuss a possible halt in the development of antiballistic defensive missiles.

Warrensburg Youth Killed In Accident

Former Sedalian, Wayne E. Gentry, In Fatal Crash

Three teenagers were injured and another killed in a one-car accident about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday on Morgan County Highway D about five miles south of Syracuse.

Killed was Wayne Eddie Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Gentry, 802 Broad Street, Warrensburg. The family resided at 813 East 24th here until recently.

Injured were Miss Carol Ridge, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ridge, 803 West Market, who was reported in a critical condition at Bothwell Hospital. She suffered multiple lacerations of the face, numerous bruises and abrasions about her body. According to the hospital, X-rays indicated she had suffered a broken back. She also suffered possible internal injuries.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale On Friday

Girl Scouts of Sedalia will begin their annual Cookie Sale at 3 p.m. Friday, March 3, and will continue through Saturday, March 11. Juniors, Cadettes and Senior Scouts will participate in the sale and will go from door to door with the cookies. This year Scouts will offer five varieties of cookies; the sandwich cream, scot-tea, the mint cookie, the savannah (a peanut butter cookie) and a new one called "pixie," which is a coconut macaroon type.

The cookies will sell for 50 cents a box. Each troop will keep a percentage from the profit and the remaining profit will be for use in the Heart of Missouri Girl Scout Council. As in past years, the Brownies will not participate in the sale.

Mrs. Robert Lindstrom is the District Cookie Chairman and Mrs. James Schmidt, Mrs. Dick Eckhoff, and Mrs. Barbara Zimmerman, LaMonte, are the neighborhood cookie chairmen working this year.

He said he had received a reply from Kosygin that "confirms the willingness of the Soviet government" to discuss possible ways to limit the arms race in both offensive and defensive weapons.

The President said talks will begin in Moscow, with Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson representing the United States.

He said he did not know what the course might be after that but emphasized that the United States will be discussing the matter throughout with its allies.

Johnson expressed hope the Moscow discussions would begin at the earliest possible time.

He was vague about when he received Kosygin's reply. He said he did not have that information at hand at the moment. The implication was that the Soviet premier had written him before today.

Perhaps by coincidence, Johnson held his impromptu news conference a few hours before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was to address the Senate on American policy in Vietnam. He said the United States has repeatedly expressed willingness to stop the bombing if Hanoi stopped its acts of war.

If the North Vietnamese are going to bomb Americans in Pleiku, as they did in the past, or mount a mortar attack against the U.S. base at Da Nang as they did last week, or "lob their mortar shells into the backs of our soldiers as they did yesterday" near the demilitarized zone, Johnson said, it is only fair that American forces "are responding, will respond and will continue to respond."

School Bill Approved By Committee

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A constitutional amendment to permit use of public funds to transport private and parochial school students on public school buses was approved by a House committee early today.

The 5-1 vote of the constitutional amendments committee came after midnight. Rep. Charles Sheehan, D-House Springs, the chairman, declined to identify the lone dissenter.

When it reaches the floor it will be only the second time in 12 years that such a bill has been reported out of either a House or Senate committee.

Also approved by the committee was a proposed constitutional change to exempt household goods from taxation, a perennial proposal.

Wednesday night a House committee considered a bill to bar employers and labor unions from discriminating against a person because of age. Advertising age requirements also would be barred.

Another committee heard testimony to authorize a 1/2 to 1 per cent earnings tax for the city of Springfield. Both St. Louis and Kansas City have earnings taxes now.

The Springfield levy would produce an estimated $800,000 to help meet the city's overall budget of almost $9 million.

In a busy day Wednesday the House passed and sent to the Senate the so-called "shared time" bill to let handicapped parochial and private school pupils attend special courses in public schools.

Busy Night For Sedalia Policemen

Probe Stabbing, Mail Bag Thefts, Car Tamperings

Sedalia police were kept busy last night investigating a stabbing, the theft of articles from two cars at Holiday Inn, and the theft of a U.S. Mail pouch at the railroad depot here.

At 12:51 a.m., the department received a report that Jake Marckum, 50, Smithton, was at Bothwell Hospital for treatment of a stab wound in his left side.

Police reported that Marckum told them he was "flagged down" by two male subjects at Main and Washington. He said he stopped his car and one of the two tried to force him out of the vehicle. In the ensuing scuffle, the police report says, Marckum said he was stabbed in the upper left side.

Marckum also told officers, according to the report, the two men had taken $20 in cash from him.

Hospital records show Marckum was not admitted. An investigation is being conducted.

Then, at 2:37 a.m., police were called to the Missouri Pacific Railroad depot where E. L. Borman, yard clerk, told officers a mail pouch containing first class mail had been stolen earlier that morning.

The police report shows that Borman told officers a mail truck from Clinton had arrived and was waiting for the next train to come in. The truck arrived about 1:40 a.m., Borman told police.

The report also shows that Borman believed the mail pouch to have been stolen from the truck. Police conducted a search of the area but failed to find any clues.

There were two reports concerning thefts at Holiday Inn, both cases involving cars which had been locked.

In the first instance, a rifle and articles of clothing were reported stolen from a car belonging to Jay B. Smith, Denver, Colo., and in the second case clothing and other articles were taken from a car owned by John R. Penick, Boonville, Iowa.

Although no itemized list had been completed, police estimated the total value came close to $1,000.

The car belonging to Penick was entered after a window had been broken out, but Smith's car was entered after some unidentified tool was used to unlock the vehicle.

Weed Bill Supported By Citizens

Missouri House Bill No. 59, a recent proposal for control and eradication of noxious weeds, is receiving favorable support from farmers and farm organizations, according to James Argenbright, assistant commissioner of agriculture.

The measure, which would replace the existing Johnson Grass weed control law, is broader than the present law and includes other noxious weeds besides Johnson Grass.

The new proposal was drafted by agricultural and weed control experts in cooperation with state farmers' organizations and the Missouri Department of Agriculture after these groups had studied the noxious weed control laws of other states.

HR 59 would make control and eradication of noxious weeds a state-wide requirement. However, since weed problems vary from county to county, the measure provides for Dexter D. Davis, commissioner of agriculture, to administer it through local weed control boards in each county.

Operating funds are to be obtained from a levy on the retail prices of herbicides, with at least 80 per cent of this revenue being returned to the counties on a pro rata basis.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend who has lost 20 pounds and looks terrific. I asked her how she did it and she confided that she went to a hypnotist who sold her on the idea that certain foods such as candy, pie, cake, bread and potatoes are poisonous to her.

I am about 15 pounds overweight and I would just love to get myself down to a size 10 again. Do you recommend hypnotism? My husband is afraid of it but I say if it works, why not?

Your word is law in our house and my husband has agreed that what you say goes. Please say yes.—HIPPIY HELEN JANE

Dear Hip: Hypnosis has helped some people lose weight but in the vast majority of cases it was a temporary loss. The sound and sensible approach is to see your physician, stick to his diet and vow to change your eating habits permanently.

Dear Ann Landers: I am one of those so-called rude people who gets mad when someone dials the wrong number. Sometimes I become unkindly and I am not ashamed to admit it. Occasionally I swear, like last night.

Three times I was awakened out of a sound sleep. The last call was 3:30 a.m. Some drunk was looking for Ida. I tried to be patient. I asked him what number he was trying to reach. The number was not even remotely similar to ours. I asked him to please check with information. Then he got nasty—said He was the one who was losing dimes and what was I so snippy about.

You said, Ann Landers, that people don't have one set of manners for daily use and another set for the telephone. Well, I agree. Normally I'm a very gracious person but under the circumstances I had a right to be rude. Agree?—NOT SORRY.

Dear Not Sorry: Your reaction was a human one and while I am not condoning profanity I can certainly understand a short fuse at 3:00 a.m.

Whole Floor Reserved For Luci

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent will give birth to President Johnson's first grandchild in a giant maternity ward taking up the top floor of an Austin hospital.

An Austin doctor, who asked that his name not be disclosed, gave the first medical confirmation of Luci's pregnancy Tuesday.

The doctor said the top floor of Holy Cross Hospital will be reserved for Mrs. Nugent and visitors.

The White House and the Patrick J. Nugents, however, maintained their silence on the prospects for a presidential grandchild.

The Secret Service will guard the special fifth-floor maternity setup, the doctor said, adding that an agent will be assigned to the baby at birth.

The doctor said the identity of Mrs. Nugent's obstetrician and the date of the expected delivery were both well-guarded secrets.

Luci, 19, has refused to tell her condition, once telling newsmen, "My marital status is a private affair, and I intend to keep it that way." She was married last Aug. 6.

But a spokesman for the hospital, a Roman Catholic institution in keeping with Luci's faith, said some arrangements had been made for her to enter the hospital, but added, "I can't discuss anything with you for a couple of weeks. It's in the talking stage."

Published reports have said Luci's baby will be born in May or June, but she had not yielded in her determination to keep quiet about the baby. "We're not in the announcing business," she told a newsmen last month.

The Austin doctor said that by clearing the floor of the 15-20 other patients, there would be plenty of space for labor, delivery and recovery rooms, a nursery and approved visitors. The hospital does not have a designated maternity ward.

Can Spend In Secret

No One Questions Legality Of CIA Spending Authority

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the furor over Central Intelligence Agency handouts to students, no one is questioning the CIA's legal authority to spend large amounts of the taxpayers' money in secret.

The 1949 Central Intelligence Agency Act says the CIA director may spend money "without regard to the provisions of law and regulations relating to the expenditure of government funds." He can do this on a voucher certified by him alone.

Nor does CIA have to report to Congress or to any federal department. It is an independent agency responsible to the President. It does give some information about its activities to a designated group of Congress members.

The secrecy laid down by law and practiced by the CIA is in the tradition of the spy business: for espionage to succeed, it must be kept quiet.

Thus the spreading disclosures about CIA payments are not to CIA's liking. And the publicity in each case means that even without the presidentially ordered investigation, CIA would probably want to end that operation.

In historical perspective, CIA is the postwar embodiment of government intelligence activities that date back to the earliest days of the Republic.

The main U.S. intelligence work was, until World War II, carried on by the armed services and by the State Department. The first four CIA directors after the war were admirals or generals.

But during the war, intelligence mushroomed into a huge and complicated business. New cloak and dagger outfits sprang up, most notably the Office of Strategic Services.

With the end of the hot war and the beginning of the cold, the intelligence functions outside of those that were strictly military were lumped in 1947 into a new agency, the CIA.

Today CIA is one of the federal government's biggest operations. Because of the secrecy, few people know just how large it is. Its subsidies for overseas student activities are only a fraction of the total.

By general acknowledgment CIA's annual budget runs into hundreds of millions of dollars, most of it hidden in the multibillion-dollar appropriations Congress votes for defense.

It probably employs several thousand persons, though here again the numbers are secret. The CIA law provides for secrecy on "titles, salaries, or numbers of personnel employed by the agency."

CIA's headquarters in nearby Langley, Va., is one of the largest modern government buildings. It is identified from the adjacent highway only by a sign saying "BPR"—for "Bureau of Public Roads."

Proportionately, only a small percentage of CIA men are overseas in spy roles—although there is probably hardly a country around the world without some sort of CIA presence.

Many personnel are at work on such projects as research on foreign economic and scientific developments, monitoring and analyzing foreign propaganda broadcasts, compiling data on foreign political personalities and organizations.

For instance, CIA runs what it believed to be the world's single most comprehensive system of information storage and retrieval. It has translation computers that can convert Russian texts into English at 30,000 words an hour. Its global radio listening service relays important foreign broadcasts to Washington almost instantaneously.

Against this broad range of intelligence gathering, the recently disclosed CIA subsidies to student and other private groups have been a relatively small operation undertaken in the first instance at White House orders—not on CIA initiative.

There is some indication that former President Harry S. Truman opposed CIA getting into actions to achieve political goals, as distinguished from merely collecting intelligence.

Writing in 1963, the year after the CIA-linked Bay of Pigs fiasco, Truman, who was president when the CIA was created said:

"I never had any thought that when I set up the CIA that it would be injected into peacetime cloak and dagger operations. Some of the complications and embarrassment that I think we have experienced are in part attributable to the fact that this quiet intelligence arm of the President has been so removed from its intended role that it is being interpreted as a symbol of sinister and mysterious foreign intrigue—and a subject for cold war enemy propaganda."

"I, therefore, would like to see the CIA be restored to its original assignment as the intelligence arm of the President, and whatever else it can properly perform in that special field—and that its operational duties be terminated or properly used elsewhere."

The White House now says, however, that CIA support of American private organizations was started by the Truman administration under policies set by the National Security Council in 1952 and continued thereafter.

The National Security Council, composed of the top federal government officials with foreign affairs-defense responsibilities, is the President's senior advisory body in this field.

Subsidies to the National Students Association began at a time when government officials and some internationally minded students were concerned about the global Communist campaign to take over nongovernment international groups and use them for the Kremlin's ends.

Some American students willing to travel to international meetings to contest the well-financed Red delegations lacked funds. Government officials decided the money for the overseas U.S. student activities should be paid secretly, so as to avoid opening the Americans to propaganda charges of being government agents. Hence the job went to CIA.

This is the official version. Another reason for CIA involvement, according to some who recall the circumstances 15 years ago, was the uproar over the communism in government charges by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis.

American colleagues then as now tended to criticize U.S. foreign policy, and some were far left by McCarthy's standards. Open government subsidies of students who strayed from official policy could have come under McCarthy's attack. CIA's secret payments were hidden from him.

The National Student Association and some other groups getting CIA aid have, in fact, taken some positions critical of U.S.

QUANG NAM PROVINCE, South Vietnam — A soldier (left) participating in Operation Stone-2, and a Vietnamese Communist suspect in a Marine prison camp are left to their own thoughts during a rest break in the operation. The Marines were operating in Quang Nam Province just 10 miles from Da Nang. (UPI)

Area Students Named to Dean's List At CMC

Defenders of the subsidies say, however, that the students did a highly effective job overseas when they found the anti-Yankee drive led not by "liberals," but by hard-core Reds.

A variety of undercover methods of payments have been developed by the CIA. Foundations, trusts and special funds have been pipelines for CIA payments to nongovernment organizations.

One version works this way: Foundation X is set up under control of a person working for or trusted by CIA. The CIA becomes an anonymous donor to Foundation X, which in turn gives directly to private organization Y or gives indirectly through some other group which makes donations.

This way the sources of the funds is concealed and the number of persons knowing about it can be kept to a minimum. In some cases even the officers of the private organizations were unaware, they said, that money their organizations received really came from the CIA. Rank-and-file members of the organizations generally knew nothing about it.

Calls for closer supervision of the CIA have erupted again in the wake of the latest disclosures, but it remains to be seen whether they will have much effect.

Last July the Senate—after a rare secret debate—voted 61 to 28 against a move to widen the select panel of seven Armed Services and Appropriations Committee members which had been privy to CIA matters. However, the chairman of the group, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., broadened the membership last month to include three Foreign Relations Committee members.

Within the executive branch, the CIA is supposed to be supervised by the National Security Council and by the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Its budget comes in for a Budget Bureau review as do those of other agencies.

Presiding over the far-flung intelligence operation is a 53-year-old former newspaperman, Richard Helms, a Navy lieutenant in World War II who rose through the ranks in agencies which developed into the CIA. He was deputy director of the CIA when President Johnson promoted him to the directorship last June. The job pays $35,000 a year.

Banks Consolidate

CLIFTON HILL, Mo. (AP)—The Farmers Savings Bank at Clifton Hill will consolidate with the Salisbury Savings Bank April 1.

Ray Richardson, president of the Clifton Hill bank, said consolidation is necessary because of the difficulty in getting employees at the Clifton Hill bank, which has been in existence 67 years.

The Salisbury bank owns 145 shares of the more than 200 shares of the Farmers Savings Bank stock.

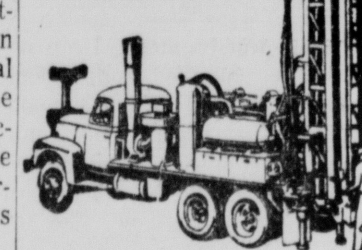

Both communities are a few miles west of Moberly in Randolph County.

Changes In Dress, Outlook Notable In Religious Areas

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A priest, so the story goes, entered a Chicago hotel elevator with several decorous young women wearing habits which were unfamiliar to him amid the changing fashions of nuns, he asked: "And what is your order?"

The young women smiled, and one replied: "We're airline stewardesses."

As the story suggests, the usual, specialized features that once marked off religious pursuits from the rest of life were sometimes less differentiating nowadays, and they often provoked questions.

That situation applied not only to apparel, but to many other churchly appurtenances — to ways of worship, to Christian education, to disciplinary rules, to the role of women, to symbols and customs of devotion.

"Revolution," is a common word for it among Protestants and Catholics.

"It is no exaggeration to say that a revolution is taking place," says Episcopal Bishop Robert M. Hatch, of Springfield, Mass. "Even as secular society is being transformed in so many ways all around us, so the life of the Christian church is also being changed."

It is remodeling its methods and manners. And the process frequently meets resistance, both verbal and demonstrative, such as:

The wave of letters which protested use at a united church meeting of an experimental liturgy stressing Christ's presence in irrelevant places, or, the Detroit couple arrested for defying Roman Catholicism's new, livelier worship.

"They were trying to force liberal ideas on us," said Margaret Tamplin, after she and her father, John, were charged with repeatedly disrupting Mass at St. Rita's church by shouting Latin responses during services in English.

Changes in external rites — the furnishings, the language used, the sequence of standing or kneeling, the garb worn — these seemed even more unsettling than deeper, intangible issues, liturgical specialists noted.

But the new styles unfolded — the occasional drama or jazz in the sanctuaries, the folk Masses, the dialogue sermons, the Protestant sacramental shift, the Catholic congregations singing Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Even church architecture became simpler, spare, more natural.

"Perhaps greater understanding would result if basic changes were not offered so fast," says a United Presbyterian pastor, the Rev. Luther Cross, of Romulus, N.Y., regarding proposed organizational and other changes in his denomination.

Citing bewilderment at the burgeoning lay role in Catholic worship, R.E. Olsen, of Northbrook, Ill., complained: "Like the ground hog at Punxsutawney, I have emerged from my burrow only to find myself in a dimly lit cave."

While most major churches are in a groundswell of renewal efforts, the tide has landed with the most suddenness and sweep in Catholicism, because of the forces unleashed through the Second Vatican Council.

Long-entrenched customs were discarded, giving way to new modes and greater flexibility and diversity.

Church canons were undergoing massive revision, and so were the catechisms.

Throughout the Catholic educational system, the old abstract, fixed formulas for teaching the faith were being supplanted by more searching discussion linked to human experience and conditions.

Fish on Friday — for centuries the dietary mark of Catholic loyalty — was no longer a rule, and the lengthy Lenten fast was out, too, leaving it up to individual, voluntary decision to elect more meaningful forms of helpful privation.

Numerous Catholic theologians raised questions about other long-time customs and disciplines — the private confessional, the stipends paid for special Masses, the bar to women priests, the rule of clerical celibacy.

The re-examination of these and other matters meant debate — dismaying or disconcerting to some, promising to others.

It is a time both of "fearful confusion" and "great expectations," the Rev. Robert Adolph, an Augustinian, puts it in a new book, "The Church is Different."

General habits of piety changed, with waning attention to religious medals, images and other devotional props — both in and out of church. Bishops in some dioceses asked an end to ring-kissing.

Various Catholic journals cited a drop even in use of rosary beads, the long-time accessory to repeated "Hail Mary's," and interest in special novenas declined to the point that a magazine about them, "Novena Notes," ceased publication.

The old, multifaceted "devotional scene" is passing for Catholics, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George W. Casey wrote in the Boston Pilot, but "something better, immensely better" is replacing it — increased eucharistic participation and devotion.

That invigorated congregational worship, enlisting the action and native tongue of the people, brought not only new communal fervor in the sanctuary, but it also brought some of the sharpest repercussions.

"We'd rather fight than switch," read placards of protesting traditionalists, who have turned up at various places, ranging from some local chantry offices to the house of the apostolic delegate in Washington. "We want altars, not tables."

In mid-January, traditionalists blocked the exit of Detroit's Catholic Cathedral, where an interfaith service was held — an affair linked to "Satanic communism" by a demonstration leader.

Most objective surveys have shown predominant and rising appreciation of the vernacular liturgy, with its lay lectors, its priests facing the people, its singing and collective responses — and sometimes with coffee and doughnuts "fellowship" afterward in the parish hall.

But nostalgia lingered among many for the old quietly formal services, leaving each to his meditations, while the priest proceeded in remote Latin.

The new liturgy is "the church's worst blunder since the humiliation of Galileo," complained a Lexington, Ky., layman. Other issues also caused concern.

The Rev. William G. Most, president of the Mariological Society of America, deplored a decline in devotion to the Virgin Mary, saying the Vatican Council had "reaffirmed and strengthened" teachings about her.

Priestly celibacy became a spirited question, despite Pope Paul's admonition to tone down the talk. Sixty-three per cent of 3,000 priests answering a survey favored abolishing the church's Western ban on clergy marriage.

The church's Eastern Rite has married priests, as do Protestant and Orthodox churches.

Nuns not only were modernizing their dress, in many cases, but an increasing number of communities abolished requirements that members take saintly names, and let them revert to their family identities, such as Sister Jane Jones.

Some religious orders eased confining rules, allowing more latitude for travel, study and work in worldly environments, including the picket line.

At the mother house of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin in Dubuque, Iowa, new postulants were to be given a "charm course" — in posture, grooming, makeup and weight control.

"It's time people stopped thinking of nuns as the schoolmarm, nursemaids and nannies of the church," says Sister Claire Marie Sawyer, a Franciscan of Alverno College, Milwaukee. "Why should 180 of us Ph.D.'s live in one compound. I believe we should live among the people."

Organized objections to the new liturgy were led by the Rev. Gonnar DePauw, a Maryland priest who stuck to his "traditionalist movement" work, despite directives — most recently from the Vatican — that he still is subject to the Baltimore Archdiocese.

"Void of any moral or canonical value," he called a December ruling from Rome's Congregation of Faith. He said his case must be dealt with by the Pope or the Roman Rota, the ecclesiastical court.

He has maintained that the church changes tend to "Protestantize" Catholicism, to exaggerate the "so-called lay priesthood," and that a "palace guard" wants to "make the Catholic Church another unit of the World Council of Churches."

On the other side, groups of young Catholics in some cities have demonstrated in behalf of more innovations and contemporary-type folk Masses.

In January, the Vatican warned against church use of "profane and worldly" music

Formal loss of power by Indonesian President Sukarno strengthens the possibility of a Southeast Asian military bloc against Red China. Mention of such an alliance has been raised by Indonesian military leaders on recent visits to Malaysia and other neighboring nations. Shaded portions of the above map show those nations currently the most logical prospects for military cooperation, although none of the other nations in the area could be ruled out completely. All are ethnically opposed to any actual invasion by the Chinese.

"not worthy of sacred action," and deplored home-celebrated "family eucharistic banquets."

However, the criticism was coupled with mention of northern European practices, and some American dioceses indicated they would continue to permit "home Masses" and special services using trumpets and guitars.

Nevertheless, official worries sounded about unauthorized experiments. The Pittsburgh Diocesan Liturgical Commission, apparently referring to scattered incidents across the country, said in a newsletter:

"The faithful are seriously scandalized by sensation-minded priests who... are offering Mass without vestments... who offer Mass in laundries, bedrooms, barrooms and other indecorous places."

Discussion also arose about private confession, after the Rev. John E. Corrigan, an authority on it, suggested that it be supplemented by occasional communal penance and absolution — in regard for those averse to the confessional box.

He and others said this also would better reflect the social dimensions of sin. Afterward, Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, where father Corrigan serves, forbade any general absolutions — except as traditionally allowed in emergencies.

Meanwhile, some Protestant churches, which have generally used only common confession, turned increasingly to private pastoral counseling. The Lutheran Church in America urged all parishes to make private confession available, as does the Episcopal Church.

While Catholic worship became plainer, with more stress on participation and preaching, Protestantism, which had long accented those qualities, gave growing attention to typical Catholic notes — the altar and liturgical order.

It was a two-way convergent trend.

Principles of union, approved by representatives of nine major Protestant denominations, provide for bishops, the ancient creeds, and affirm the sacred significance of the Eucharist and the value of tradition.

Protestantism also was over-

At the same time, Protestantism also had its controversial frontiers of worship. San Francisco churches had a minister to the "night people" — in bars and taverns. In Dallas, Protestant and Catholic clergymen held forth in an apartment development cocktail bar.

A Philipsburg, N.J., parishoner warned: "The only way we can object is by withholding money."

The Rev. E. Crowell Cooley, a Norfolk, Va., Presbyterian, citing various ecumenical and other projects, commented: "I am deeply concerned that a lot of what we hear about new approaches in presenting the Gospel is really a cover-up for a different message."

The Rev. Dr. C. R. McBride of Central Baptist Seminary says: "The successful tactics of yesterday are not the tactics that win people today."

75 Policemen Must Lose Weight To Keep Work

BOSTON (AP) — The fat is under fire in the Boston police department as 75 officers weighing a total of six tons embark on a weight-reduction course that has helped 300 colleagues lose more than five tons.

Dr. Samuel S. Berman, who has led three other groups of Boston policemen through the voluntary program since September 1965, welcomed the 75 new recruits Tuesday night.

"It's not a question of anything magic," said Berman, who believes "some people are born with a more limited metabolic output than others."

His approach is a dietary restriction, but not elimination, of carbohydrates — starches and sugars, especially sugars — and the inclusion of protein — for tissue building — and saturated and unsaturated fats — for energy and heat.

Fats do not put fat on the human form, Berman said. It is the carbohydrates that do the damage.

Those on the diet also take metabolic pills three times a

Viet Cong Morale At An All-Time Low

PHUOC THANH, South Vietnam (AP) — A North Vietnamese lieutenant captured by Korean troops said today the failure of the lunar new year truce to produce peace negotiations has put "Viet Cong morale at an all-time low."

"Night and day the Viet Cong long for peace," said Lt. Truong Hiep, a platoon leader with the 3rd Company, 85th "Independence" Battalion, a Viet Cong main-force element. "They had high hopes for negotiation. Now they know they cannot win without direct help from Russia or Red China," he said.

The lieutenant was interviewed through an interpreter at the wire-enclosed stockade of the Korean Tiger Division here in the central highlands 290 miles northeast of Saigon. A Korean private captured him this week with a karate blow. The lieutenant was attempting to fire his German Walther pistol at a Korean patrol that surprised him as he was returning to duty from a Viet Cong hospital hidden in the mountains.

A North Vietnamese regular, Truong infiltrated from Hanoi a year ago and was assigned as a special cadre to work with Viet Cong main-force troops in Phu Yen Province, which actually was his home. Like many other idealistic young Communists, he went north during the 1954 armistice that followed the Geneva agreements and rose through the ranks of the North Vietnamese army.

The lieutenant said as a cadre officer he had been told to indoctrinate his troops with the idea that a truce would soon come about with a coalition government of Viet Cong and South Vietnamese representatives ruling the country, following the immediate withdrawal of all American and other foreign troops.

Truong's special job was guarding provincial officials of the Viet Cong shadow government operating in the tactical area being swept by Korean troops. He was badly scalded in January while trying to boil water in an ammunition box and was taken to a Viet Cong dispensary deep in the mountains. The hospital once had consisted of four buildings, but because of air strikes had been reduced to a single hut staffed

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The National Farmers Association called on farmers to stop shipment of meat and vegetables to market for a week beginning at midnight Sunday to protest arrests of farmers and the failure of the government to negotiate price supports for farm products.

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Parts of the Central National Library of Florence were reopened to the public today for the first time since volumes and archives of the library were badly damaged in the November flood.

LONDON (AP) — In the biggest party revolt of the Labor government's 2½ years in power, 46 Laborite members of the House of Commons abstained Tuesday night from the vote on the government's defense budget. The House approved it, 270-231, but Labor's usual majority of about 90 was cut to 39.

The dissident Laborites had a variety of complaints; that Britain should abandon its Far Eastern role, that the government should trim all defense expenses sharply, or that recent party policies are generally wrong.

Would Remove Tax Exemption For Boat Gas

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A constitutional amendment proposed by Rep. David Rolwing, D-Charleston, would remove tax exemption on gasoline for boats and earmark a portion of the taxes collected for development of boating and recreational facilities.

The proposal was discussed at a House committee meeting Wednesday night.

Under Missouri law operators of vehicles not using public highways may obtain refunds on state gasoline taxes.

Rolwing contends the construction of boat facilities should be paid for by those who use them.

Dan Drake representing the Lake of the Ozarks Yachting Association said:

"The people who want these facilities are not the bulk of the gas users. They are picknickers, swimmers and freeloaders."

Organized Crime In KC Is Contained

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Organized crime in Kansas City has been contained but not destroyed, a federal official said Tuesday.

Henry E. Petersen, chief of the organized crime section of the Department of Justice, said a criminal group in Kansas City is tied to a national organization.

"Call it what you want to — Mafia, Cosa Nostra or just syndicate — it's all organized crime," he said.

Petersen talked to reporters after a two-day conference with law officials of the area. The meeting brought law enforcement officers together from Kansas and Missouri.

"St. Louis does not present as severe a problem as Kansas City so far as hard-core organization is concerned," Petersen said and added that there was no particular explanation.

Petersen named three individuals who he said "have attained for themselves the right to be called significant persons in the organized crime drive." The names he mentioned were Nick Civella, Joseph Cusumano and Joseph Filardo.

He said conferences such as the one here were to mobilize all agencies to take full advantage of all federal state and local resources.

Dispute Is Blamed For Hesitation

NEW YORK (AP) — The dispute between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row publishers over the book, "The Death of a President," apparently prompted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to halt publication of a book containing the senator's major speeches, it was learned today.

An announcement of publication of the senator's book, "New Problems, New Proposals," appeared in Harper & Row's winter catalogue last November.

But Tuesday, Evan Thomas, vice president of Harper & Row, said the 150-year-old publishing house decided to drop the book from the winter schedule.

"The first indication that there would be a delay came last December when the senator failed to send us the introduction to the book," said Thomas. "We sent some inquiries to Washington, but received no reply."

"He got a reply to everything he sent," a Kennedy aide said. "If he didn't it was simply because the senator didn't have time. Some material was not furnished. It was not completely buttonholed."

Cass Canfield, chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row, said that a few months ago, after part of the book already had been set in type, Kennedy suggested holding up publication for additional material.

"We both agreed to put in some more speeches," said Canfield.

The Kennedy aide said that to the best of his recollection the decision to postpone publication of the book was made sometime in late October or early November 1966.

"There hasn't been any discussion since the postponement," the aide said.

Another source said the reason for the postponement was the anticipated controversy stirred up by author William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," which Harper & Row is publishing in April after reaching an out-of-court settlement with Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy sued Manchester and Harper & Row last December to block publication of the book on grounds some passages were too personal and were an invasion of privacy. An agreement was reached, and Mrs. Kennedy dropped the suit.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

New York City operates the largest municipally owned transit system in the United States, says The World Almanac. With 236.70 miles of subway and elevated track and 554.47 miles of bus routes, the system covers a total mileage of 791.17. It is possible to ride 400 miles on the subways, doubling back when necessary, for only 20 cents. The city's total investment in the transit system is over $2 billion.

While the postponement of the senator's book was decided on either in late October or early November, several weeks before Mrs. Kennedy brought her suit in December, the source explained that a controversy was shaping up at the time of the postponement of the Robert Kennedy book.

The source said it was felt by both the Kennedys and Harper & Row that it would be unwise to proceed with the senator's book while the Manchester book controversy was still up in the air.

Many People Await Their Invitation

CHICAGO (AP) — Many prominent persons were hoping today to receive one of the cream-colored, engraved-by-Tiffany tickets to 1967's wedding of the year.

Some 2,000 invitations to the April 1 wedding of Sharon Percy and John D. Rockefeller IV are in the mail.

Not since Luci Johnson and Patrick Nugent announced their engagement has a young couple's marital plans aroused so much interest.

Like the President's daughter, Sharon has expressed the hope that she and her fiancé will be treated "just like any other couple."

Her wish is as unlikely to be granted as was Luci's.

"Instead of his and hers seats at the wedding, they'll have to have Democrats and Republicans," one of Sharon's friends said when the engagement was announced Nov. 29.

Rockefeller, 29, nephew of Republican Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, recently was elected to the West Virginia Legislature as a Democrat.

Sharon, 21, whose father, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, is mentioned as a possible Republican contender for the presidency, says she has become a Democrat since her engagement.

"Love takes precedence over politics," her father commented when told of the switch.

A slender, wide-eyed extrovert with long, wheat-colored hair, Sharon presents striking contrast to Rockefeller, 6-feet-6½ inches tall and darkly handsome with brown hair and green eyes.

"She's an activist by nature," Rockefeller has said of his fiancée.

Sharon chose the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Chapel for her wedding.

Her father is a graduate of the university and a board

No Advice For Police Officer On Trial Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled that a police officer questioned in a crime does not have to be advised of his constitutional rights.

The ruling Wednesday was in the case of James Hymore, a former part-time constable in Lake Township in northwest Ohio. He was convicted of first-degree manslaughter in a 1965 tavern shooting.

Hymore was off duty at the time of the shooting.

An appeals court reversed Hymore's conviction. But the Supreme Court unanimously reversed the appeals court ruling, saying statements Hymore made to a deputy sheriff and a coroner were admissible evidence.

The high court said that because Hymore was a police officer there was no need that he be advised of his constitutional rights before any investigation began.

member. Rockefeller's great-grandfather provided the funds to found the university and to build the nondenominational chapel, dedicated in 1928.

Sharon will walk a 265-foot-long aisle to the altar, past 51 pews in which the 2,000 guests will be seated.

Because the Christian Science denomination, of which the Percys are members, has no set marriage service, the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer will be used. An organ and choir will furnish music.

A reception immediately after the wedding will be held in Ida Noyes Hall, a student center resembling an English Tudor manor house, across the street from the chapel.

One hundred guests have been invited to the traditional rehearsal dinner on the wedding eve given by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III, in the Arts Club.

The couple will honeymoon in Hong Kong and Japan, where Rockefeller studied and taught for three years.

They will live in the $75,000, one-story red-brick house in a Charleston, W.Va., suburb which Rockefeller has spent $25,000 remodeling.

A married couple will serve as housekeeper and caretaker on the 16-acre estate.

Area Fires

The Pettis County Fire Department was called to the Fredrick farm, Route 5, at 9 p. m. Wednesday to help bring under control a grass fire, caused by burning trash. There was no damage.

The Pettis County Fire Department was called about 5:30 p. m. Wednesday to west Highway 50, west of Gasoline Alley, where a car had caught fire. The fire was out before the truck arrived and apparently no damage resulted.

Pettis County fire fighters responded to two calls Thursday. The first, at 9:55 a.m., came from the Don Buller residence, Route 4, where a grass fire, apparently started by burning trash, was running out of control. About an acre of grass was burned off, but no damage was listed.

The second call came at 10:50 a.m. from the Carr residence, Route 2, where a brush fire was reported in progress. Firemen used one booster line, brooms and rags to put out the first fire and ran out a line of inch-and-a-half hose to put out the second blaze.

Damage occurred to the left rear of the Dodge and to the left front of the Plymouth.

Two vehicles were damaged in a collision at 8:46 p.m. Tuesday in the 500 block on South Harrison.

The car was owned by Miss Ridge.

Results Of Effort Are Surprising

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Massive efforts to combat unemployment among Negroes in the Watts area since the 1965 riots have surprised and gratified the campaign's task forces, although much remains to be done.

A fresh report Tuesday reflected this conclusion. It said results indicated a "significantly favorable" experience for both workers and employers.

But additional prejob training for minority groups still is a major need, H.C. (Chad) McClellan, head of the Management Council for Merit Employment, said in releasing the findings of the new survey.

The council's study was conducted by the Research Institute for Business Economics, investigative arm of the University of Southern California's Graduate School of Business Administration.

It was directed by Dr. William H. Reynolds, professor of marketing, whose researchers interviewed 100 workers and 59 firms which employed them after the disturbances.

Reynolds said they learned that:

—One-third of the employers said they would hire more Negroes than in the past. All will hire as many as they already have.

—Two-thirds of the Negroes placed in jobs between September 1965 and April 1966 still held them. All said these jobs were better than they had before.

—Half of the one-third who left these jobs did so for better offers. The majority have had promotions and raises. In no case was discrimination cited by those who quit.

—Employers generally agreed that Negroes are much like all others in job performance. Expected problems with supervisors and fellow employees failed to materialize.

The new survey said "lack of education . . . is the principal factor holding back Negro employment."

McClellan said "there are four skill centers in disadvantaged Los Angeles areas, all operating at capacity, yet in Watts alone 2,500 unemployed can't get in. They're on waiting lists."

Huge Numbers Are Hi By Tuberculosis

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Twenty-five million people in the United States are infected with tuberculosis, although their cases aren't active, a U.S. Public Health Service physician estimates.

Dr. Sidney Dressler said of the 50,000 or so new active TB cases discovered in this nation yearly a majority involve persons who would have had positive responses if they were given tuberculin tests.

Dr. Dressler, in Los Angeles from Washington, D.C., to attend a symposium on the control of tuberculosis, told a news conference that tuberculin tests must be given to whole generations of school children.

Although cases of tuberculosis are increasing statistically, the reason is a better reporting and detection system rather than any actual increase in TB, said Dr. A. A. Grabau of the Erie County Health Department, Buffalo, N.Y.

Tanker Truck Driver Dies In Fiery Crash

WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP)—A tanker truck driver died Tuesday night when his vehicle overturned and ruptured, spilling 6,600 gallons of flaming liquid on a busy freeway off-ramp and into Los Angeles harbor, police reported.

Investigators said the unidentified driver was trapped inside his truck's cab by the flames, which prevented firemen from approaching.

Officials said some of the liquid — identified as methyl isobutyl ketone — ran through drainage channels and spilled into the harbor six blocks away. Fireboats at the scene towed six barges out of the way of the flames.

Officials said the fires in the storm drains and harbor were put out quickly but that it took more than two hours to determine that the driver had been inside the truck.

Form New Red Bloc For Action

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany are forging a new Communist sub-bloc dedicated to perpetuating the division of Germany.

Poland and Czechoslovakia take the first step in Warsaw today with the signing of a 20-year renewal of their 1947 friendship and assistance treaty.

Closing the triangle, East German government and Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht will travel to Warsaw and Prague in mid-March to sign similar pacts with Poland and Czechoslovakia, informed Communist sources said.

They said the result will be an "iron triangle" to secure East Germany against West Germany's territorial aspirations and its claims to represent the whole German people.

Some Western diplomats call it a "paper triangle" of pledges stemming from Polish and East German anxiety about the responsiveness of their southern allies to overtures from the new West German government in Bonn.

Evidence is mounting that Czechoslovakia's two northern neighbors plus the Soviet Union have stiffened Prague's resistance to opening diplomatic relations with Bonn unless the West Germans renounce their claim to speak for all of Germany.

Diplomats report a sharp change in the Czechoslovak attitude following a strong Soviet statement on Germany Jan. 28 and Romania's opening of diplomatic relations with West Germany the next week.

The Russians warned of neo-Nazism in West Germany and demanded recognition of the two German states. Previously Czechoslovakia had given the impression it would exchange ambassadors with Bonn if the Germans set no conditions.

The Czechoslovak press during February resumed publication of articles hostile to West Germany and played up Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka's demands for sweeping West German policy changes.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The governors of Georgia and Alabama — experienced with legislative ups and downs — got stuck on an elevator.

It happened Tuesday after Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace and her husband, George, addressed the Georgia legislature.

Along with Georgia Gov. Lester G. Maddox and his entourage, they were on their way to a sixth-floor cafeteria on a freight elevator. But instead of going up, the overloaded elevator grunted, groaned and slowly sank to the basement.

"Let's get off this thing," said Maddox. They did, leaving behind a distressed elevator operator who'd been making practice runs all morning.

Boom Days for Know-Hows

The day of the rugged business individual, the man who runs his company like a tight ship with himself as all-powerful captain, is ending in America. Power is passing from the individual corporate president or chairman of the board to the expert groups further down in his firm, observes famed Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith.

"Never again will the average, informed person know the name of the current head of Ford or Standard Oil," he says. "The latter, like all others, will have to produce his driving license when paying by check."

Where once the names of the great bankers—Cooke, Gould, Morgan, Mellon—were part of the American folklore, today there are few bankers whose names are known outside the financial community. Fame today requires that a financier "collect modern art, have Japanese wrestlers perform in the lobby, or stage Ping-Pong contests in the street."

The control of business enterprises has become collegial, says Galbraith. It is based on expert knowledge, much as earlier generations of power were based on land or capital.

Power lies with the individuals who possess knowledge, not connections with the financial community. If their knowledge is particular and strategic, their power becomes very great—not as individuals, however, but as part of the decision-making group.

There is a popular tendency to think of groups or committees as inefficient. Not so, says the economist.

"Highly paid men, when sitting around a table as a committee, are not necessarily wasting more time in the aggregate than each would waste all by himself."

It would be nice to think that this is as true in Washington as in Wall Street.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: You're Pulling My Chin. — "You know, I've been keeping my ear to the grindstone recently, and I tell you we've got to do something to get a toe-hold on the public eye." This remark by a federal government employee is a prize item.

We'd not have been surprised had it gone on: "Make no bones about it. It's plain as the nose on your face. We're just not on our toes. We keep putting our foot in it. It's high time we started talking straight from the shoulder. I know I'm sticking my neck out, but I say the people can't make head nor tail of what we've been saying."

"Quite frankly, some of the statements out of Washington make my hair stand on end. Sometimes we seem to be all thumbs. High-handed methods just won't work. You can't lead the public around by the nose. And it's no good splitting hairs. If we get our head out of the clouds, there's still time to save face. Provided we don't get cold feet. If you ask me, it's time to put our shoulder to the grindstone!"

We admit that it takes a nose for news to dig up an item like this. All we ask is that you don't accuse us of tongue in cheek.

Well, It's About Time!

What has to be one of the all-American understatement of the year has been made by President Edward D. Eddy of Chatham College for women in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Explaining the inauguration of a sex education program at Chatham — undertaken, incidentally, at the request of the students — Dr. Eddy said:

"There is so much confusion in the present generation concerning the role of the male and female in all life."

You said it, Dr. Eddy! And you might have added that the subject has been a little confusing to past generations as well.

In fact, if the new course at Chatham clears up this confusion — and we sincerely hope it does — it's a pity it couldn't have been started by Adam and Eve, when the confusion undoubtedly began.

Washington Viewpoint

Naive Students Cat's-paws of the Reds

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — There are increasing signs Communist Party USA leaders have decided students today occupy the strategic position industrial workers did in the 1930s.

One sign of this is the speed with which young Communist professionals are able to jump in to spark campus demonstrations on a wide variety of issues — whether it's South Vietnam, the draft, "free speech" on campus, ROTC training, "corporate power control" of the universities or CIA activities.

Another sign is the large number of youth the Communist Party USA took into its national committee at the last U. S. Communist party convention.

The protests — whether on the Vietnam war or on "free speech" — are merely a Communist means for infiltrating a few highly trained Communist youth leaders into non-Communist youth fronts.

The Communist leaders do not expect to turn these student associations into Red groups. They do hope to get a few of their men and women into key posts in a number of large student groups so as to influence the course of action these groups take in sensitive situations.

This infiltrating is usually achieved by the Communists helping to form large loose youth fronts on some particularly hot subject. The Communist activists are usually hard workers. They can offer practical organizing experience. They get things done. Since they've been in on the ground floor in organizing the front, it is natural that they end up in key positions.

After they're known as front leaders on this issue or that, they're often invited to join in the discussion of some of the individual student groups which make up the front.

The Communist youth leaders also jump to start or help organize demonstrations, such as the University of California at Berkeley "free speech" demonstrations. When the Communist activists secure positions of leadership, they turn this publicity into enough votes to win campus offices.

The Daily Worker brags, for example, that Communist Bettina Aptheker Kurzweil was "elected to office in the Berkeley student government with the largest vote ever recorded there" as a result of her activity in the University of California riots.

Historically, in other countries, once Communists have infiltrated such groups, they've immediately set to work at destroying any leaders who stand in their way, whether rightist or leftist.

Fidel Castro, for example, built his original power base by moving in on the campus organizations when he was a student at the University of Havana. Once he and members of his group had moved in, they destroyed the other student leaders by personal attacks.

The point is that the vast majority of students on American college and university campuses are serious students. But a handful of extremists numbering less than a half of one per cent on a campus can do a great deal of damage and raise a lot of dust if led by carefully trained activists.

Liberal Justices To Dominate Court

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal justices dominate this Supreme Court and even if some of them retire in the next few years, so long as Lyndon B. Johnson remains President the court probably will remain liberal.

And these three chief justices were in their 60s when they were appointed to take charge: Warren, 62, William Howard Taft, 64, and Charles Evans Hughes, 68.

All these bits of arithmetic prove is that there is no mathematical formula for predicting when any justice figures he has had enough. Justice William Brennan is 60. Only three justices are under that age: Abe Fortas, 56, Potter Stewart, 52, and Byron R. White, 49.

Thus, while the average age of the present members is 63½ years, this court has had a continuity of outlook, starting with the 1954 decision outlawing public school segregation, that has made it the strongest in history and the most liberal.

Yet, only four of the present justices — Warren, Black, Douglas and Clark — were on the court at the time of the 1954 ruling. All four of them approved it.

Youth — or comparative youth — is no guarantee that a justice will be more liberal than his elders. The two youngest members of this court — White and Stewart — along with Harlan are the most conservative.

The three oldest members — Warren, Black and Douglas — along with Brennan and Fortas make up the dominant liberal majority.

This doesn't mean they vote together on every issue, but do so enough times to give the court its steadily liberal direction. Sometimes, when one or more of them dissents, the remaining liberals can't get a decision through unless joined by one or more of the conservatives.

Next to the school desegregation ruling, perhaps the most courageous act of the Supreme Court since 1954 was the decision requiring state legislatures to reapportion themselves to give more equal representation to state citizens.

The court long had held back from butting into this political ambush. But the court also showed courage in banning compulsory prayers in public schools, in toning down the hysteria about communism in the 1950's, and protecting the rights of individuals, including criminals.

Margaret Wagar of Atlanta has been one of the best bridge players in the world for quite awhile. When she first appeared on the bridge scene no one realized that this pretty girl with the Southern accent could play the cards just about perfectly. That is, no one realized it until about the second time they played against her.

Here is a hand that she played against a couple of Eastern experts back in those days.

She won the first spade in dummy and played dummy's king of diamonds. East played the deuce and West the five. A second diamond was led from dummy and East played the ten. This is a standard false card play against a poor declarer. In theory it is only poor a declarer who tries to drop a singleton queen with this card combination and the ten spot play is meant to imply that the man who plays it either has no more or the queen. If he has no more, declarer must lose a trick but if he has the queen, declarer can finesse. This encourages the poor declarer to finesse. Against a good declarer the false card makes no difference, he was going to finesse in any event.

Against the very good declarer it may backfire. Margaret thought awhile and went up with her ace!

East was indignant. "Didn't you see my ten?" he asked.

"Of course," said Margaret. "I also saw your partner's five spot. I just knew that either one of you would try to fool me if you could. If he held eight-five he would have played the eight."

Better Relationship With LBJ and US Reserve Board

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In easing the amount of credit available to the economy, beginning today, the semi-independent Federal Reserve Board showed clearly that it has achieved a more cordial relationship with the President.

The unconcealed evidence of this develops in the same month that the administration must decide whether or not to reappoint William McChesney Martin to another term as chairman of the board.

Martin and his board have achieved this credit easing by lowering the amount of money banks must keep idle as a reserve against possible claims on deposits.

The fact that the easing of credit, and the manner in which this is accomplished, matches the administration's policy may be a mere coincidence. The views should, in fact, coincide more often than disagree.

More likely, however, there has been an agreement, tacit perhaps and behind the scenes of course, that the fierce battle last year between Johnson and the board helped nothing, least of all the American economy.

Now there seems to be an understanding about the requirements and demands of each other's role.

This meeting of the minds comes little more than a year after Johnson blistered the board publicly because it thought tighter money was needed to slow the economy.

The board stood its ground stubbornly against a propaganda barrage from the very seat of federal power. It went ahead and put a girdle on an economy it felt was swollen out of shape. It tightened the supply of money in order to slow spending.

This girdle gradually became tight as a corset and the administration howled as if the laces were pinching.

Now the pressure is being eased, perfectly in tune with administration desires. And among other factors, these are significant:

1. The board could have supplied as much money to the economy with almost no publicity simply by purchasing government securities in the open market as it has done many times before.

This would not have had the very same effect. It would, for instance, have been a slower method of getting money into the small or "country" bank areas. But still, it would have accomplished the job.

The board's action, then, is being interpreted by some as a token gesture towards easy money.

2. The nature of the move will put more money exactly where the administration has been, through its own efforts, trying to place the money; that is, in the hands of institutions which are liable to commit the funds to home mortgages.

One effect, among many, certainly will be to bring downward pressure on the costs of borrowing for homes and, perhaps, for large appliances. These are areas now in recession or depression.

Career Girls Can Get Tired Of Old Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that career girls get tired of hearing:

"After all, she's wedded to her work."

"If you ask me, a woman's place still is in the home."

"What's a nice dame like you doing working in a sweatshop like this?"

"To be as tactful as possible about it, Joan, I don't think that dress is for you. In a job like yours, you don't want to look too young."

"Congratulations, Joan. As the first girl in this firm ever to win her 25-year pin, you have every right to be proud of yourself."

"Sorry Miss, but we don't serve unescorted ladies at the bar. Would you care to sit at a table?"

"Yes, I admit you deserve the promotion, but you know how some of the men feel. They don't want to work for a woman."

"Don't tell me you can cook. I thought all career girls were helpless in the kitchen."

We don't mind your hiring a woman for the job, but can't you at least pick one with a better figure?"

"What'll you have for lunch, —the same? Coffee and a peanut butter and jelly sandwich?"

"We're giving a shower for Rosemary. She's getting married to the head of her department next month."

"I do believe it's your first gray hair, Miss. Shall I tint it or pluck it for you as a souvenir?"

"I don't care whether she can type or not — she's still not my type."

"...And, of course, after you've been with us for 40 years, you're entitled to the full pension."

"I love my wife, but oh, you kid!"

"I'll handle this problem myself, Joan. I feel it needs a man's touch."

"For Pete's sake, why should a career gal expect to get the same pay as a man? He's got a family to support. All she usually has to support is a pet cat or a couple of goldfish."

"They ape everything we do. The next thing you know they'll start carrying brief cases to and from the office."

"Hey, Joan. It's my wife's birthday. Would you mind trotting out and buying a couple dozen roses for her? While you're at it, pick one out for yourself. I'll pay for it."

"They're all just marking time until they can catch themselves a husband."

"Gee, Joan, sometimes I forget you're a gal. I guess I tend to think of you as just another one of the fellows."

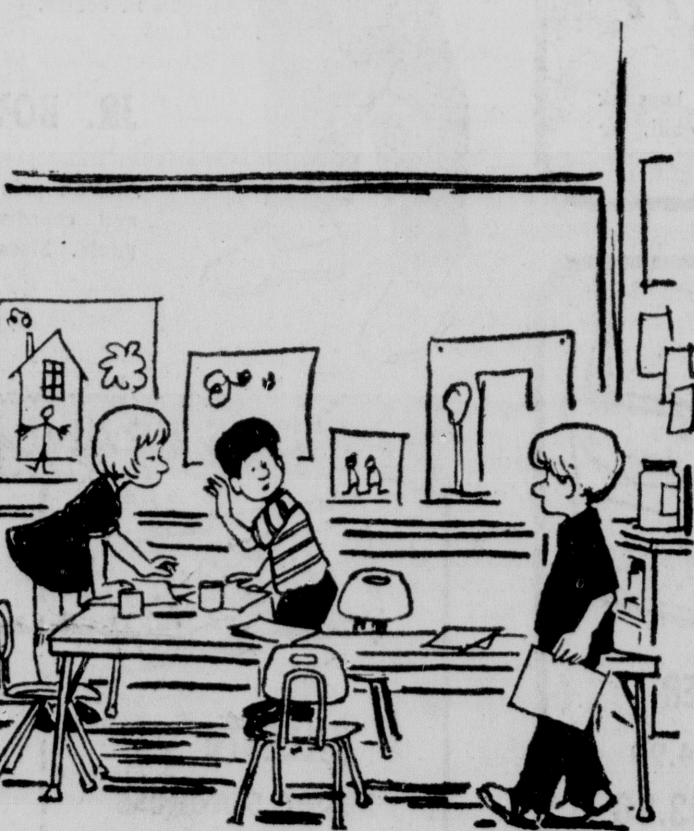

GONE WILD is one way to describe this bit of fashion created by Gerard Papat, who achieved a safari look with wide brim bush hat, bush jacket, Bermuda-length shorts and high gabardine-and-leather boots.

What Does The Label Mean On The Hamburger You Buy?

"Hamburger" is an all-time meat favorite and is one of the food-budget stretchers, but, what should you buy — hamburger, ground beef, ground chuck, ground round, or ground sirloin? Each label on a package of ground meat has a distinct and different meaning — knowing the right meat to buy for the dish you plan to serve.

Nutritionally, all beef meat, regardless of cut, has the same amount of protein, vitamins and minerals. While the percentage of fat in the meat will have some effect on the total amount, the degree of difference will be relatively minor. With the exception of ground round or sirloin, ground beef is usually made from less tender and/or less popular cuts of beef. This does not mean that ground meat is any less wholesome or nutritious, because ground meat is so popular, food markets cannot get enough meat from a carcass of beef to fill the demand after they remove the steaks, roasts, etc. So, they supplement their supply by purchasing less tender or less popular wholesale cuts specifically for grinding into ground meat.

Federal inspection means if the meat is distributed across state lines, processing of the animal, the carcass, and the boning operation must have been done under the careful eye of Federal meat inspectors to insure its wholesomeness.

The label talks to you, Hamburger may contain additional beef fat over and above that attached to the meat being ground. It cannot contain extenders. Because of extra fat, this product may tend to shrink more than others.

Ground beef is ground beef with usually only the fat that is normally attached to the meat being ground. This quality difference helps justify the higher price per pound over hamburger. Both hamburger and ground beef are made from chunks of less tender cuts of beef. While these can be used in hamburger, they are best when used in combination with other items such as meat loaves, casseroles, meat sauces and foreign dishes.

Ground chuck is meat from the shoulder or "chuck" of the animal. The chuck is more popular than the cuts of meat used in regular ground beef, so it is usually higher priced. It is slightly leaner and shrinks less in cooking than regular ground beef. Because of this, it is especially good for use in patties.

Ground round is just what its name implies — ground round steak. Since it has a low fat content, it may not be as desirable for patties. However, it may be used by many people for low-fat diets. It is best used in a combination with other ingredients that add moisture to the meat such as in meat loaves, casseroles or meat sauces rather than broiled "burgers."

Ground sirloin of course comes from the very popular sirloin steak and likewise commands a high price. It has the rich flavor of steak and, indeed, makes a king of a "hamburger." If you like to buy cuts with less fat for grinding such as the top or bottom round of sirloin, have a little suet added. This will give a juicier product.

When buying ground beef, look for that which has a bluish red color. This indicates that the meat has been freshly ground.

Ground meat is more perishable than steaks or roasts because it has been ground and more of the meat's "surface" is exposed.

Purchase only the amount that can be used in two days unless you have a freezer. Remove the store wrappings and cover lightly with wax paper and store in the coldest part of the refrigerator. For freezer storage, freeze it in patties, placing freezer paper between patties for ease of separation. Freeze at zero degrees. Patties will keep 2 or 3 months frozen. Do not season before freezing. Or you can borrow the "pour and store" principle and freeze the patties without touching each other on a cookie sheet. Freeze rapidly. When frozen package and remove for use as needed.

Shopping for Electric Housewares

Can you afford to throw money away? Buying appliances that you won't use often can be just that! To avoid wasting your money think before you buy.

For every family there are probably right electrical housewares. The choice of suitable ones begins with the value you put on their features: Labor-saving, mobility, multiple use, automatic control, or just plain fun. Today's trend is for the busy homemaker to buy and use electrical housewares that will give good performance and save her time and energy.

Plan your buying in advance and then shop around for competitive prices. Shop with reliable dealers who handle merchandise of manufacturers who stand back of their products.

Electricity and Appliances
To get best performance from your electrical appliances, you must have adequate wiring in your home. The great increase in electrical appliances used today has made the wiring of many homes — those wired 10 to 20 years ago — inadequate. Even the minimum wiring standards call for at least two small appliance circuits in the kitchen — dining room service area. These circuits have larger wire than regular lighting circuits because the small appliances have higher wattages.

It's a good idea to have your home wiring checked by a reliable electrician before you add electrical appliances. Frequently-blown fuses and tripped circuit breakers indicate that your wiring needs attention. Always be sure that the proper size of fuse or breaker is used.

Some typical wattages of appliances are: toaster — 1250 watts, waffle baker — 1350 watts, coffee maker — 1000 watts, and hand iron — 1100 watts. You can see that if more than one of these is connected to a "general purpose" circuit at one time the wiring will be overloaded. General purpose circuits are those found in most homes and are served with No. 14 wire. They have a capacity of 1800 watts and should always be protected with a 15 ampere fuse. In contrast, small appliance circuits use larger diameter wire (usually No. 12) and are protected with 20-ampere fuses.

Connect your appliances to appliance or wall outlets only. Avoid using them on extension cords, particularly lamp cords. Appliances with 1500 or more watts may need to be used alone on one circuit. Read your appliance direction book to be sure.

The U. L. Seal means an appliance has met safety standards of the Underwriter's Laboratories Inc. This is an organization for testing electrical materials, devices, and equipment construction. Their seal will be on the body of the appliance if it has been approved. The cord will also have a U.L. seal if it has been listed. However, if there is a seal on the cord only, this may mean that

Food Price War Brewing In Oregon

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—March is coming in like a lamb for the family food shopper. A food price war is brewing in Portland, Ore. In Oklahoma City, Okla., markets have cut egg and milk prices to keep up with the gas stations. That's right, gas stations.

In New York, a major supermarket chain cut milk prices. And coffee wholesalers have cut their prices for the second time in six months.

In Portland, cutup fryers are advertised at 27 cents a pound, bacon 48 and sirloin steak 86, butter 58 and coffee 58 to 62.

One chain quietly cut prices on the shelves two weeks ago, and the others responded, advertising discount prices.

Some gas stations began selling milk and eggs in Oklahoma immersed for cleaning, after removing this probe control.

Appliances may be divided into three categories: motor driven, heat producing, and motorized heating. The wattage for heat producing appliances is generally more than that of small motor driven ones. The motor-heating ones have the highest wattage.

City, last month, exploding a milk price war that saw milk drop from $1.05 to 49 cents a gallon. It now is 84 to 89 cents. Eggs, which were 57 to 62 cents a dozen, are 49.

Wholesale milk prices have eased in many areas in recent weeks. This week a major chain in the New York area trimmed retail prices from 2 to 4 quarts for 55 cents to 27 cents apiece, 95 cents a gallon instead of 97.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., which operates A & P supermarkets — the nation's largest chain — provided a break for coffee drinkers, too. It cut retail prices in the New York area on regular coffee 4 to 6 cents a pound — instant coffee wasn't affected.

Coffee wholesalers responded by cutting their brands 2 to 4 cents. The reason: There's an awful lot of coffee in Brazil.

In the meat department, the spotlight is lingering on pork. Supplies are much bigger than a year ago. Ham and bacon prices are lower on the West Coast this week.

Broilers are down 1 cent a pound in the Southwest.

Lamb is down 1 to 2 cents a pound on the West Coast, and a major supermarket chain in the New York area is having a lamb sale. Leg of lamb is down 20 cents to 65 cents a pound.

We care vision has made america great

Men of vision and dedicated people have made America the industrial, manufacturing, and retailing leader of the world.

Take our founder as an example.

More than a century ago, he envisioned a new concept of efficient, low-cost mass food distribution. This concept set the stage for the development of today's modern A&P and for today's entire food retailing industry.

Similar vision characterizes the current management of A&P.

Men who recognize the cost-saving potential of computerized warehousing and ordering.

Men who are applying practical automation to manufacturing facilities.

Men who are relocating distribution centers to take advantage of modern transportation and roads.

Men who are constantly on the lookout for better, more efficient methods of food handling.

Men who are, as always, dedicated to the basic concept of our founder: TO BRING THE MOST GOOD FOOD, TO THE MOST PEOPLE, FOR THE LEAST AMOUNT OF MONEY.

Mantle Is One Up

Great Experiment Starts With New York's Yankees

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Great Experiment is off to an early start at the New York Yankees' spring training camp. . . and Mickey Mantle already is one up on Dr. Strangelove.

Mantle, determined to make the grade as a first baseman after 15 seasons in the Yankee outfield, jumped the gun Wednesday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and scooped up about 30 ground balls with the big mitt.

He came through with a perfect fielding average, then scored with a quick quip when asked what type of first baseman's glove he was using. "It's a Dick Stuart model," replied the 35-year-old slugger without cracking a smile.

The reference was to the journeyman first baseman, now with Los Angeles, whose defensive shortcomings earned him the nickname Dr. Strangelove.

Mantle, who wasn't expected to begin working out at first base for several days, persuaded coach Frank Crosetti to tap grounders his way. "I've got to learn sometime," Mantle said.

Afterward, he admitted being

"a little uncomfortable out there, at first. I kept feeling that everybody in the stands was waiting for me to miss one."

"I want to make it. If I can do it, there'll be all strong arms in the outfield and it could give me a year or two more as a player than I'd have had as an outfielder. I've got eight days and the 30 exhibition games to find out if I can do it."

Beatty Is Still Tall In Sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the tall world of basketball, American University's Arthur Beatty still is a towering figure.

Beatty, a 7-foot-11 junior, is the tallest collegiate player in the East. And the native New Yorker who now calls Washington his home still is growing.

Beatty leads a scrappy Eagles' team against top-seeded Temple into the first Middle Atlantic Conference postseason tournament Friday in Philadelphia. Temple defeated American 81-63 earlier this season.

St. Joseph's and LaSalle, two other Philadelphia teams, will round out the tournament entries, which will determine the league's representative to the NCAA playoffs.

American University's basketball fortunes began to rise after Beatty entered the school. As a freshman, Beatty showed little, averaging less than nine points and five rebounds a game while often fouling out early.

Just as often he was retired from games because he tired. In his second year, however, American hired a new head coach, Al Kyber, and an assistant, Joe Murphy.

"Coach Kyber and Joe began working with me before every practice session," Beatty said. "We concentrated on position, quickness and several offensive shots. That individual help has made all the difference."

It also made a difference in the team.

Last season, the Eagles doubled the number of victories they earned the previous year and finished with a 14-4 record.

They again doubled the number of victories this year and go into the MAC tourney with a 16-7 mark which includes victories over such major colleges as LaSalle and Duquesne.

As the Eagles' statistics have improved, so have Beatty's.

In his sophomore year he averaged 15 points and 12.6 rebounds a game.

Currently he is third in the nation in rebounding with a 19.3 average per game and is ranked among the top point-makers in the East with his 22.2 average.

Alcindor Owns Lead In Tight Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Alcindor of UCLA has taken over the lead in the tightest major college basketball scoring race in the last 15 years.

The 7-foot-11 sophomore star of the No. 1-ranked Bruins moved from fourth place to first by scoring 98 points in two games for a total of 688 and an average of 29.1 a game, according to statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau.

The next three scorers also have averages of better than 29 points — Jim Walker of Providence, 29.84; Elvin Hayes of Houston, 29.20; and West Bialosuknia of Connecticut, 29.18. Malcolm Graham of New York University, last week's leader, scored 68 points in three games and dropped to fifth with a 28.7 average. Graham suffered a recurrence of an ankle injury in a game Monday night and is through for the season.

Alcindor's 61 points against Washington State last Saturday was the most for a major college player since Oscar Robertson scored 62 for Cincinnati against North Texas State in 1960.

Alcindor's 61 points against Washington State last Saturday was the most for a major college player since Oscar Robertson scored 62 for Cincinnati against North Texas State in 1960.

The Yankees, starting from scratch after last year's cellar finish in the American League, hope Mantle, whose succession of injuries have curtailed his maneuverability and weakened his throwing arm, can master the new position and free slick-fielding Joe Pepitone for center field service.

While Mantle broke in his new glove at the Yankees' camp, Stuart sat out Dodger drills at Vero Beach, Fla., with an ankle injury. Stuart's right ankle, hit by a pitch during batting practice Monday, hemorrhaged Wednesday and the nine-year veteran is expected to be sidelined a few more days.

Pete Richert, Washington's winningest pitcher last year, was another early casualty. The hard-throwing left-hander came up with knotted muscles in his pitching shoulder. He'll undergo heat treatments and special exercises to correct the condition.

Pitcher Milt Pappas ended his week-long holdout and signed with Cincinnati for a reported $32,000. . . about the same he received last season while posting a disappointing 12-11 won-lost record with the Reds. The right-hander was seeking a $5,000 raise.

Meanwhile, Frank Robinson, whose trade to Baltimore for Pappas last winter backfired on the Reds, trotted through his first workout with the world champions and expressed satisfaction with his progress in recuperating from a knee operation.

"If this was opening day, I wouldn't be satisfied," said the American League's MVP and Triple Crown winner. "We still have six weeks before opening day, however, and today I'm satisfied." Robinson underwent surgery last November to remove cartilage from his right knee.

The Boston Red Sox squelched rumors that they were interested in trading former AL batting king Carl Yastrzemski while the San Francisco Giants said they weren't trying to deal for Cleveland's Rocky Colavito, who is holding out against a 25 per cent pay cut.

"You couldn't get a guy like that out of the American League right now," said Giants President Horace Stoneham. "There are too many clubs over there that would grab Colavito if Cleveland tried to get waivers on him."

Baseball Population Growing Up

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The baseball playing population is growing so fast that major league expansion may be only a few years away, says Commissioner William D. Eckert.

"More boys are playing ball than ever before," the commissioner told newsmen Wednesday.

But new clubs will be added "only on a sound basis," Eckert said. He spoke after a spring meeting of the Baseball Executive Council.

"When there are enough players, along with sufficient public demand and enough park facilities, there will be an expansion," Eckert said.

Preliminary plans call for two additional clubs in each league. A dozen cities want in the majors, he said. He did not name them.

Discussing expansion possibilities, the council decided to work increasingly with universities, high schools and amateur organizations to develop more players.

Another flow of players, it was said, comes from Latin America. The commissioner said this influx is increasing rapidly.

The council established two Cy Young Awards. The baseball writers organization will select

Earl Neale And Nine Players To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl (Greasy) Neale, one of the game's great innovators in his career as college and professional coach, and nine former players have been named to the National Football Hall of Fame for 1967.

Chester J. LaRoche, president of the National Football Foundation, in making the announcement Thursday, said the electees would be inducted at the 10th annual Awards Banquet Dec. 5.

The players honored include six linemen and three backs. They are: Slade Cutter, Navy tackle; Nathan Dougherty, Tennessee guard; Joel Hunt, Texas A&M back; Wear Schoonover, Arkansas end; Paul Schwieger, Washington tackle; Herb Stein, Pittsburgh center; Francis (Whitey) Wistert, Michigan tackle; Cecil Isbell, Purdue back, and Abe Mickal, Louisiana State back.

LaRoche said the Hall of Famers were chosen not only for football performance but for leadership and citizenship.

'Stalling' Is Factor In Contest

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

That old devil, stall, is back in the news in college basketball today.

In an effort to upset the nationally fifth-ranked Princeton Tigers, Penn held the ball for 11½ minutes at one time before going down to defeat 25-16 Wednesday night. The home court victory gave Princeton the Ivy League championship and a berth in the NCAA championship tourney opening March 11.

Once-beaten Toledo also qualified for the NCAA tournament by beating Ohio University 93-90 to win the Mid-American Conference title. South Carolina upset third-ranked North Carolina 70-57 and eight-ranked Tennessee was hard pressed to defeat N. C. State 65-62 in overtime.

Southern Illinois, the No. 1 small college team in The Associated Press poll, made it 15 in a row enroute to the NIT postseason tourney by downing Southwest Missouri 93-66. Villanova, also NIT-bound beat Seton Hall 83-65 for its fifth straight and 10th victory in its last 11 games.

However, Syracuse, another NIT-invitee, was upset by Niagara 71-59 and Holy Cross surprised Connecticut, in the NCAA tourney, 70-61. Two other NIT-bound teams split. St. Peter's of New Jersey was upset by Long Island University 69-61 while Rutgers overcame Lehigh 67-55.

"We did it to win," said Dick Harter, the Penn coach, after the Quaker stall in Princeton's Dillon Gym, scene of a similar stall by Dartmouth several weeks ago which the Tigers finally won 30-16.

Penn led at the half 9-8 and it was not until seven minutes had elapsed in the second half that Gary Walters' field goal from the corner put Princeton ahead for good at 16-14.

South Carolina used a deliberate 2-12 zone defense to defeat North Carolina at Columbia, S.C. The Gamecocks held the Tar Heels scoreless from the field for 9½ minutes during one span.

Bill Justus' two free throws in the last seven seconds of the extra period assured Tennessee's squeaker over N.C. State at Greensboro. Ron Widby paced the Vols with 23 points in the game that ended 53-53 in regulation time. Joe Serdich led the Wolfpack with 18.

The best pitcher in each league rather than one for the two as heretofore.

The council asked the baseball scheduling committee to study a request to change the World Series schedule so series would start on Saturdays rather than on Wednesdays.

Discussion of players' requests for minimum salary increases from $7,000 to $12,000 was deferred. Club owners are studying the requests.

Southern Illinois Holds A Solid Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Illinois, over its toughest late-season hurdle on the way toward New York's National Invitation Tournament, maintained an apparently insurmountable lead in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll today.

The Salukis drew 13 first place votes and 157 points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters. The Salukis, recently named to the NIT, beat second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan 52-46 last week for a 19-2 record.

The small-college leaders completed their regular season Wednesday night by defeating Springfield, Mo., 93-66.

Kentucky Wesleyan held second place in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday. There were no changes in the next three positions as Lincoln of Missouri remained in the No. 3 spot followed by Cheyney State and Indiana State.

San Diego State, winner over San Fernando Valley State and Los Angeles State for a 21-4 mark, climbed three places to sixth.

Akron slipped one notch to seventh after losing to Winston-Salem State. Southwest Missouri held the No. 8 slot, and Grambling fell two places to ninth, the result of setbacks by Arkansas AM&N and Alcorn.

Arkansas State is the only new team in the rankings, advancing to 10th place and replacing Howard Payne. Arkansas State collected 28 points on the usual basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Howard Payne had two votes for first-place, but managed only 26 points after losing to Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. South. Illinois (13) 157
2. Kentucky Wesleyan 113
3. Lincoln, Mo. 91
4. Cheyney State 77
5. Indiana State 67
6. San Diego State 60
7. Akron 57
8. Southwest Missouri 45
9. Grambling 37

Fend Off Youngsters

Russian Pair Has Skating Laurels

VIENNA (AP) — Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov proved convincingly that the Fountain of Youth is in Leningrad, U.S.S.R.

The Soviet Mr. and Mrs. team — he is 34 and she is 31 — held off a flock of youngsters to win the 1967 World Pairs Figure Skating Championship Wednesday night.

It was their third straight world title and they did it in a near-perfect display of conservative teamwork on ice.

The U.S. brother and sister team of 18-year-old Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle, Wash., finished third, the same as they did last year.

The pairs title was the first to be decided here. Tonight the second is at stake—in ice dancing—and defending champions Diana Fowler and Bernard Ford of London are the overwhelming favorites to win again.

The Protopopovs skated cautiously and classically to the music of Tchaikovsky, Liszt, Massenet and Saens-Sand, a sharp comparison to the night before when they went through their compulsory figures to jazz music.

The Protopopovs left second place to Margot Glockshuber, 17, and Wolfgang Danne, 26, of West Germany.

In men and women's competition, the last two of six figures will be completed today.

The women's event is all but wrapped up by defending champion Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo. The petite miss has already opened up a 50-point lead over her nearest competitors—Valerie Jones of Toronto, Canada, and 1966 runner-up Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany.

The men's competition is tight with 1966 runner-up Wolfgang Schwarz a few slim points ahead of his Austrian countryman, Emmerich Danzer, the defending champion.

America's Scott Allen, of Smoke Rise, N.J., is in third place, followed closely by the North American champ Donald Knight of Canada and the U.S. champion, Gary Visconti of Detroit.

Iowa State, Kansas Are After Okla.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Iowa State and Kansas are out to dunk Oklahoma and end the Sooners' monopoly of the Big Eight swimming and diving championships here, starting Thursday and continuing Friday and Saturday.

The Cyclones appear to have the best chance to lift the crown from Oklahoma winner of 12 consecutive conference swim titles going into this tournament, the Big Eight's 40th.

Iowa State defeated the Sooner tankmen in a dual meet last week after sinking Kansas to wind up their pre-meet season with seven victories and no losses. The Cyclones' easy disposal of Oklahoma and the Jayhawks in their dual meets could put them on guard.

Kansas ace Don Pennington said he and his teammates are going to borrow a strategem from Iowa State and shave their arms and legs and get burr-haircuts for the showdown here.

Shaving, said Pennington, a triple winner in last year's tournament, reduces air bubbles and underwater friction which slows a swimmer down. "Iowa State shaved for their meet with us," he said, "and they were really up. It gives you confidence."

Back this year is another triple-winner, Jim Cotsworth of Iowa State, and seven individual champions who won 11 medals last year. The Sooners also are returning last year's record-setting medley relay team.

Kansas State is expected to finish behind the front-runners, with Oklahoma State, Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri in the rear ranks.

There will be time trials in five events Thursday, starting at 1 p.m., with finals after 8 p.m. The same schedule applies Friday and Saturday, plus a 6 p.m. starting time on Saturday for all but the final heat of the 1,650-yard freestyle.

Jerry Sloan Thrills Home Town Fans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was just as though Jerry Sloan never left.

Sloan, a second-year pro with the Chicago Bulls who helped lead Evansville, Ind., to two straight NCAA College Division basketball championships, performed before the home folks again Tuesday night, and he didn't disappoint them.

Sloan scored 22 points and grabbed 15 rebounds in leading the Bulls past the Philadelphia 76ers 129-122.

In other games on the full National Basketball Association slate, Boston topped San Francisco 127-125, Cincinnati held off Los Angeles 122-116, Baltimore beat St. Louis 122-112 and Detroit trounced New York 118-101.

Chicago, which outrebounded the 76ers 72-46, went ahead to stay 82-80 on Sloan's lay-up with 2:45 left in the third period.

John Havlicek poured through 27 of his 36 points and Don Nelson got 16 of his 20 in the second half for the Celtics against San Francisco at Boston.

Havlicek hit five straight field goals as Boston moved to an 86-78 lead in the third period. Then after the Warriors moved to within two points, Nelson connected on four field goals and two free throws to put the game out of reach.

Cincinnati, getting 25 points from Oscar Robertson, 23 from Happy Hairston and 20 from Jerry Lucas, blew a 17-point lead but held on for its home-court victory.

Elgin Baylor led Los Angeles with 30 points and Gail Goodrich got 27. The Lakers played without Jerry West, who was in West Virginia because of the death of his father.

Baltimore withstood a 42-point final quarter by visiting St. Louis for its victory. John Barnhill scored 27 points Ray Scott 25 and rookie Jack Marin 24 for the winners. Zelmo Beaty got 24 for St. Louis.

Tom Van Arsdale put in five straight baskets in the second quarter as the Pistons built up a 60-44 halftime lead at Detroit. Dave Bing led Detroit with 28 points. Willis Reed topped New York with 22.

Fights To Keep Three Top Coaches

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois opens its fight for retention of three coaches today in an appeal before the Big Ten's governing body of faculty representatives.

The appeal will be presented by University President Dr. David D. Henry, Illinois' faculty representative and acting athletic director, Leslie Bryan, and the university's legal counsel, James Costello.

The faculty representatives may act quickly or, more probable, make deliberate, painstaking study that could prolong their decision until Friday or Saturday.

Conference athletic directors last week ordered Illinois to fire football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes, his assistant, Howard Braun, or show cause why the university should not be suspended or expelled from the Big Ten.

This action, described by Dr. Henry as "too harsh," opened the avenue of appeal in which the university must show cause why it should remain a conference member if it doesn't dismiss the coaches.

The coaches were involved in irregular payments to athletes from a $21,000 petty fund administered outside the university.

When the fund was revealed in December, the university blew the whistle on itself, placing Elliott and Combes on one year probation and ruling ineligible seven football and five basketball players.

The eligibility of the athletes also will be embodied in the appeal.

Extra Training Is Planned By Cassius

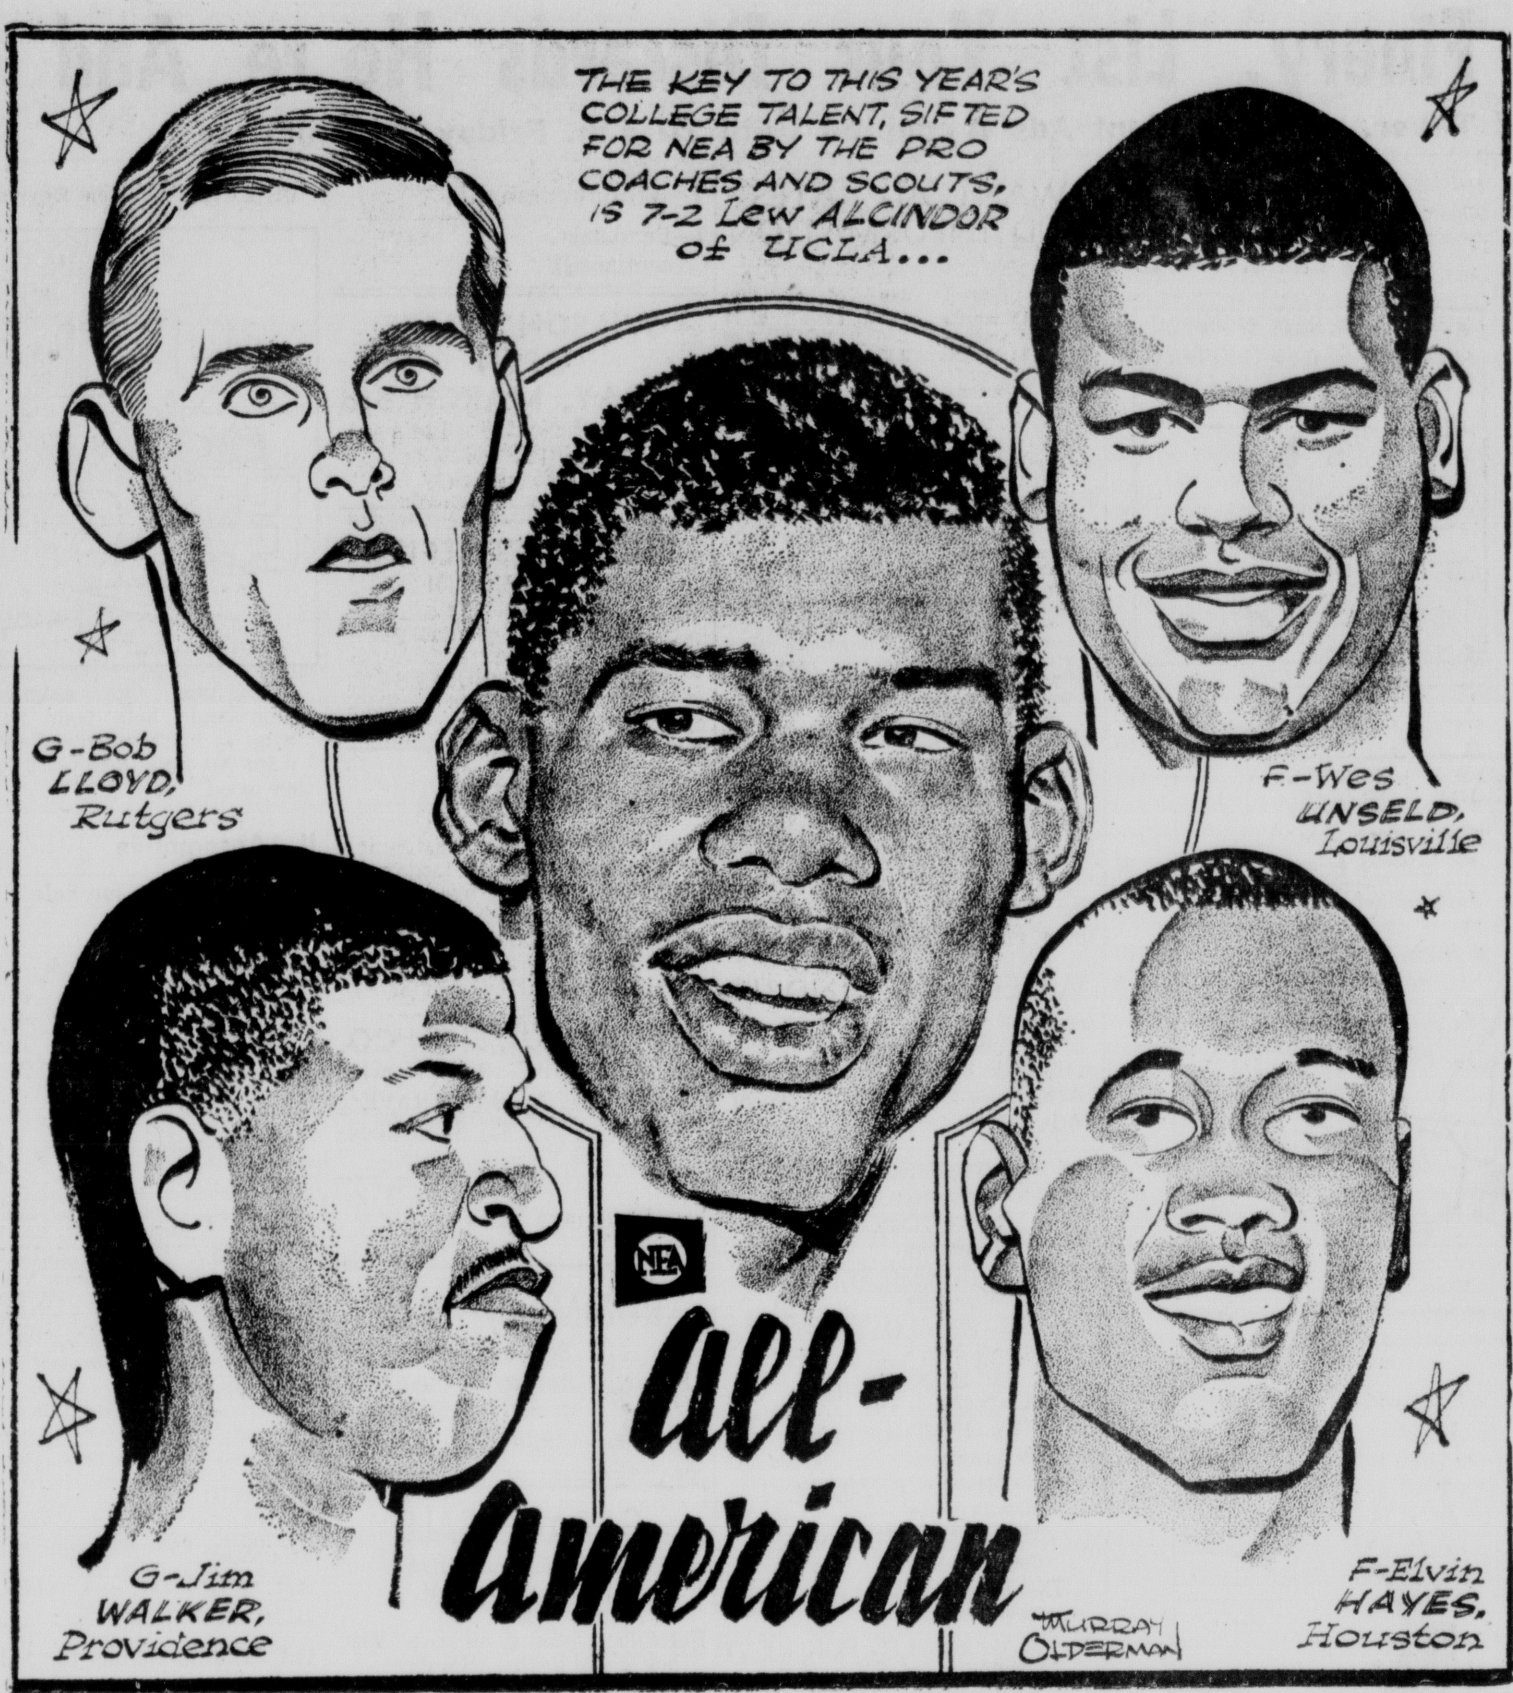

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he plans to train an extra week in Houston before going to New York where he will defend his title March 22 against Zora Polley.

Earlier he had planned to arrive in New York about two weeks before the bout.

"I am going to stay an extra week because I like it down here," Clay said.

"I like it better and better. I like the weather, the layout of the city. It's a peaceful, quiet, clean place."

Grassfires Hit Hard At Kansas Prairie Lands

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Thousands of acres of open prairie were burned off by a series of grassfires through south central and southwest Kansas which basked in summer-like 80-degree temperatures Wednesday.

An estimated 1,000 volunteers and fire-fighting equipment from more than a dozen communities fought the fires to a standstill by nightfall. No loss of life or appreciable property damage was reported.

The largest of the fires broke out three to five miles northwest of El Dorado, Kan., and spread northward along a front one to two miles wide and 25 to 30 miles long.

It roared 10 miles into neighboring Chase County before being contained. At one point its flames licked along U. S. 77 and leaped across a Butler County road linking Sewton and Cassoday, Kan. Several highway patrol cars were summoned to direct traffic through the smoke.

Nearby farms supplied water sprayers, and oil field tank wagons were pressed into service.

Gardner McKay, Maureen O'Hara, Fess Parker, Pernell Roberts, Dale Robertson, Marshall Thompson, Lana Turner, Clint Walker, Adam West, plus numerous lesser names.

The list is in addition to those who have already visited Vietnam one or more times — Bob Hope, Robert Mitchum, Ann-Margret, John Wayne, etc., some of whom plan return trips. Mitchum is there now.

One of the prime movers in the recruiting of talent for Vietnam is George Chandler, a former Screen Actors Guild president and best known to the public as member of the "Lasie" cast in seasons past.

"We're getting many more stars to go now," said Chandler, "but General Westmoreland says to send more. We're trying to do that, and our committee is functioning much better, since we brought the heads of the leading agencies into it. They are getting the message to their clients."

"The best people we can send are entertainers like Danny Kaye, who are well-known and can do a great job of putting on a show. But we need lesser-known entertainers as well. General Westmoreland has advised us to send more of the non-entertainers, too."

"Some of them are reluctant to go. A fellow like Jim Garner says, 'What can I do? I can't sing or dance or tell jokes.' He can do a lot. A Bob Mitchum goes to Vietnam and shakes hands with the GI's and talks to them, and he gives them something to talk about and write home about."

Chandler said that the government pays for the transportation of the stars, who are given per diem payment of about $20. Many of them return it to the U.S.O.

Do any actors refuse to go because of opposition to the Vietnam war?

"Only a very few," said Chandler. "They have told us, 'I won't go because I don't approve of the war.'"

"Our answer is: 'We don't like war, either. Nor do the boys who have to fight it; they'd much rather be elsewhere. But there are 400,000 of our young men in Vietnam, and a whole lot of them are lonely, homesick kids. We should do everything we can to make their lives happier.'"

"As Danny Kaye said: 'I made a deal with the State Department — I don't tell them how to run their business, and they don't tell me how to run mine.'"

Monoplane To Relive Past Age

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) —

Frenchmen will see history relived next May 21 when a tiny high-wing monoplane circles Paris' Eiffel Tower and flies on to land at Le Bourget Airport.

That's where Charles A. Lindbergh touched down May 21, 1927, after a 33½-hour, 3,600-mile hop from New York that set a record for nonstop solo flight and opened the world's eyes to the potentials of aviation.

The plane that will land at Le Bourget next May is an exact copy of Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis" and the man who will fly it bears a physical resemblance to the slim aviator pilot who became overnight a world hero.

He is Frank Tallman whose claim to fame until now has been as a daredevil movie stunt pilot.

Tallman, who at 48 prefers to be known as a corporation president rather than a stuntman, is building the new "Spirit of St. Louis" in one of the Tallmants Aviation, Inc., hangars at Orange County Airport 40 miles from Los Angeles. He says it is costing him $40,000.

After it is completed next month, Tallman will put the 27-foot-long craft through test flights here, remove the 46-foot wings and load them aboard an Air Force C141 transport. Due to arrive at an airport near Paris early in May, the plane will be reassembled and tested again prior to the 40th anniversary flight.

From May 26 to June 4 the plane will be on display at the Paris Air Show. Beyond that, Tallman says the plans are indefinite.

"This is the only true replica of the 'Spirit of St. Louis' that has ever been built for flight," Tallman says. "We followed exactly the blueprints which Ryan Aeronautics of San Diego drew up to Lindbergh's specifications."

Chandler said that the government pays for the transportation of the stars, who are given per diem payment of about $20. Many of them return it to the U.S.O.

St. Louis Boys Turn In 19 False Alarms

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Two St. Louis boys, 8 and 9 years old, have told police they turned in 19 false fire alarms after sniffing airplane glue.

One of the boys is in custody, but another has been missing from his home for three days, police said.

The older boy will be admitted to the State Hospital Youth Center for observation and treatment for the effects of the glue sniffing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man in the moon has lines on his face, according to pictures taken by Lunar Orbiter 3.

Two new photographs from the camera-carrying spaceship were released Wednesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA declined comment on the most striking feature of one of the shots — distinct straight lines across the floor of a large crater near the equator and about 1,300 miles west of center on the moon's front face.

The picture was taken at an altitude of about 38 miles, ruling out closeup details. It shows two parallel straight lines, crossed by another at a right angle and still another on the diagonal.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps and its domestic counterpart, Vista, have so far gone their ways separately but a new program will have them working together.

Vista does antipoverty work in the United States, while the longer established Peace Corps does essentially the same thing overseas.

Sargent Shriver, head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs Vista, and Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn said Wednesday 500 recruits from the Peace Corps will get in a little basic training with Vista this summer before shipping overseas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — India is making "a sincere effort" to cope with its perennial food shortages but still needs help to avert famine this year, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman says.

Freeman appeared before the Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday to urge congressional approval of sending more emergency food to India.

Vacancy On High Court Is Created

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Ramsey Clark as attorney general will give President Johnson a Supreme Court vacancy to fill — the result of a unique family double-play.

After Johnson promoted Clark to the vacancy Tuesday, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, the nominee's father, said he'll retire by midyear to avoid any conflict of interest.

Early Senate approval of the younger Clark's appointment is anticipated. Three senators heartily endorsed the nomination, with Sen Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., calling it "one of the finest any president has ever made."

Justice Clark, 67, a 17-year veteran of the high court bench, said he'll review the court's

Girl Scout Notes

The annual Girl Scout "Juli-festa" will be held March 18 at 2 p.m. in the Horace Mann gymnasium. All parents of Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Senior Scouts are invited to attend.

The program will consist of Girl Scout troops portraying each of the twelve Girl Scout regions in the United States. There will be displays from each level of Scouting and also a display showing each day of Girl Scout Week.

Girl Scout Week will be celebrated by Girl Scouts all over Sedalia beginning March 12-19. It is the 55th anniversary of Girl Scouting in America and troops will honor the founder, Juliette Gordon Low in many ways from attending church together on Sunday to the lighting of birthday candles at troop meetings during the week.

Junior troop 374 met Jan. 31. A Court of Awards was held with several of the girls receiving badges that they had earned. Tracy Shipwright, Jerri Bruce, and Sally Rodgers received the Sign of the Arrow, Carla Jackson received the Sign of the Star.

An election was also held. The results are as follows: Scribe, Jamie Schumaker; Kathy Hall, Treasurer; Tiger Patrol—Tracy Shipwright, leader; Janet Ripley, assistant; Leopard Patrol—Shirley Marriot, leader; Gail Harwood, assistant; Bunny Rabbit Patrol—Dana Smith, leader; Karen Carpenter, assistant; Rat Patrol—Mary Roeborn, leader; Nina Burks, assistant.

On Feb. 7 the troop officers held a Court of Honor. Plans were made for the next three months.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Orrin Smith, Mrs. James Schumaker, Mrs. Donald Carpenter, and Mrs. Ed Hames.

Brownie troop 315 of Hubbard School met Feb. 7. Mrs. Delmar Gann was a guest of the troop. She explained the program and answered the girls' questions. Mrs. Gann demonstrated how to make roses from tissue paper. This was the occurrence of the Jan. 30 meeting.

At the Feb. 7, meeting plans for a Valentine's Party were made and suggestions for future activities were discussed. One will be a Mother and Daughter Tea sometime in March. Rehearsal began on the song that the troop will sing at the Juli-festa.

Miss Bobbie Boggess is the troop leader.

Girl Scout troop 328 met Feb. 15, at Mark Twain School. The Peppermint Patrol gave the flag ceremony. The patrol also worked on the Girl Scout Laws. Three girls had the flag ceremony marked off on their Sign of the Arrow. They learned a new game also.

The Green Hornet Patrol is working on the writer's badge. They performed two plays which patrol members had written.

The Brownie troop of Horace Mann School met Feb. 16. The troop stuffed envelopes for the Easter Seals.

Leaders are Mrs. Evelyn Stanton and Mrs. Berna Dean Lamm.

The Senior Girl Scout troop met Feb. 16, 1967, at the home of the troop's Adviser, Mrs. Bob Fingland.

The troop spent their entire meeting stuffing Easter Seals envelopes.

Annetta Grainger served refreshments.

Miss Shore Enjoyed Russia Work

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Dinah Shore is either still madly enamored of show business or has had judgment.

Dinah was torn deliciously between a midwinter decision to visit friends in Acapulco or to relax at Palm Springs.

Then CBS called and invited her to go to Minsk and make a pair of television shows—hostess, they said, on a couple of circus specials.

Miss Shore, without a thought, dropped Acapulco and Palm Springs. She picked up an assortment of evening gowns, five fur coats and a couple of changes of thermal underwear. Then with her favorite hairdresser and her press agent, she took off for a fortnight of work behind the iron curtain in winter, when the thermometer hovered around 25 degrees below zero.

"I also was outfitted with some beautiful, soft boots because Russia, they said, is cold in winter," reported the singer. "They looked so beautiful and were so soft that all the Russians in Minsk stared first at my boots — almost nobody looked at the fur coats or at me. And I want to tell you that while I had the most beautiful boots, I undoubtedly had the coldest feet in Russia."

Blonde Dinah, with a disposition as happy as her voice sounds, enjoyed every minute of her visit to the Soviet Union.

"The audiences couldn't understand any of the words of the songs," she reported, "but the one they seemed to like best was 'Under a Blanket of Blue.' My own worst moment came when I walked into a cage for a number with some Siberian tigers — although the tamer assured me I was perfectly safe."

The results of Miss Shore's midwinter excursion will be visible on "Coliseum," CBS's taped variety hour tonight and again next Thursday. She is now warming up in Palm Springs.

"This is the time of the year when I'm particularly relieved to be free and out of weekly television," she said. "Even after three or four years, I'm still glad I don't have to go through that nasty period of worrying about whether the show will be renewed."

NEAR THE CAMBODIAN BORDER — The spoils of war — a chicken and a bucket of rice — are going to turn into soup at the hands of Cpl. George L. Mattie, of Dallas. Attached to B troop, 11th Cavalry, in action on "Operation Junction City," Cpl. Mattie is also surrounded by captured batteries, radios and uniforms from a Viet Cong regimental base camp. (UPI)

Scout Master Otis D. Brock, Jr., Troop 53, was introduced by Mrs. McCall, and presented three short skits. The following

Unfunny Jokes Are 'Analyzed'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joke: "If you want a youthful figure, ask a woman her age."

Dr. Robert Priest describes this as a typical antifemale joke. In fact, he uses it in his studies of the social psychology of humor.

To even things up, Priest supplies this example of an antifemale joke: "When Jack dances, he's all feet and when he stops he's all hands."

But, are they funny? Priest expected the first joke to draw chuckles from men and stern looks from the women. And vice versa with the second example.

Not so.

Priest, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Southern California, culled more than 5,000 jokes for just the right ones to use in his experiments with students.

Using a mixed panel, he divided the students into male-male pairs, female-female and male-female.

Surprisingly, reaction wasn't along sex lines at all.

The women didn't like the joke about Jack any better than the men did, and the men reacted negatively to the one about a woman's age.

Statistically, this trend held throughout Priest's experiments, he told an interviewer Wednesday.

Priest said he hopes his studies will lead to an increased understanding of the conflicts that arise in daily living and possibly help with psychological diagnosis of conflict situations.

"Apparently," he said, "the forces which join the opposing groups are stronger than those which divide them."

"It also appears that when a person is confronted by a member of the opposite sex, he tends to inhibit hostility."

TV Appearance Costs Man 30 Days In Jail

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Charles Hamilton Rhinehardt's first television appearance cost him 30 days in municipal jail.

Rhinehardt, 19, Cincinnati, was convicted Wednesday of stealing a $2 shirt from a store equipped with closed-circuit television.

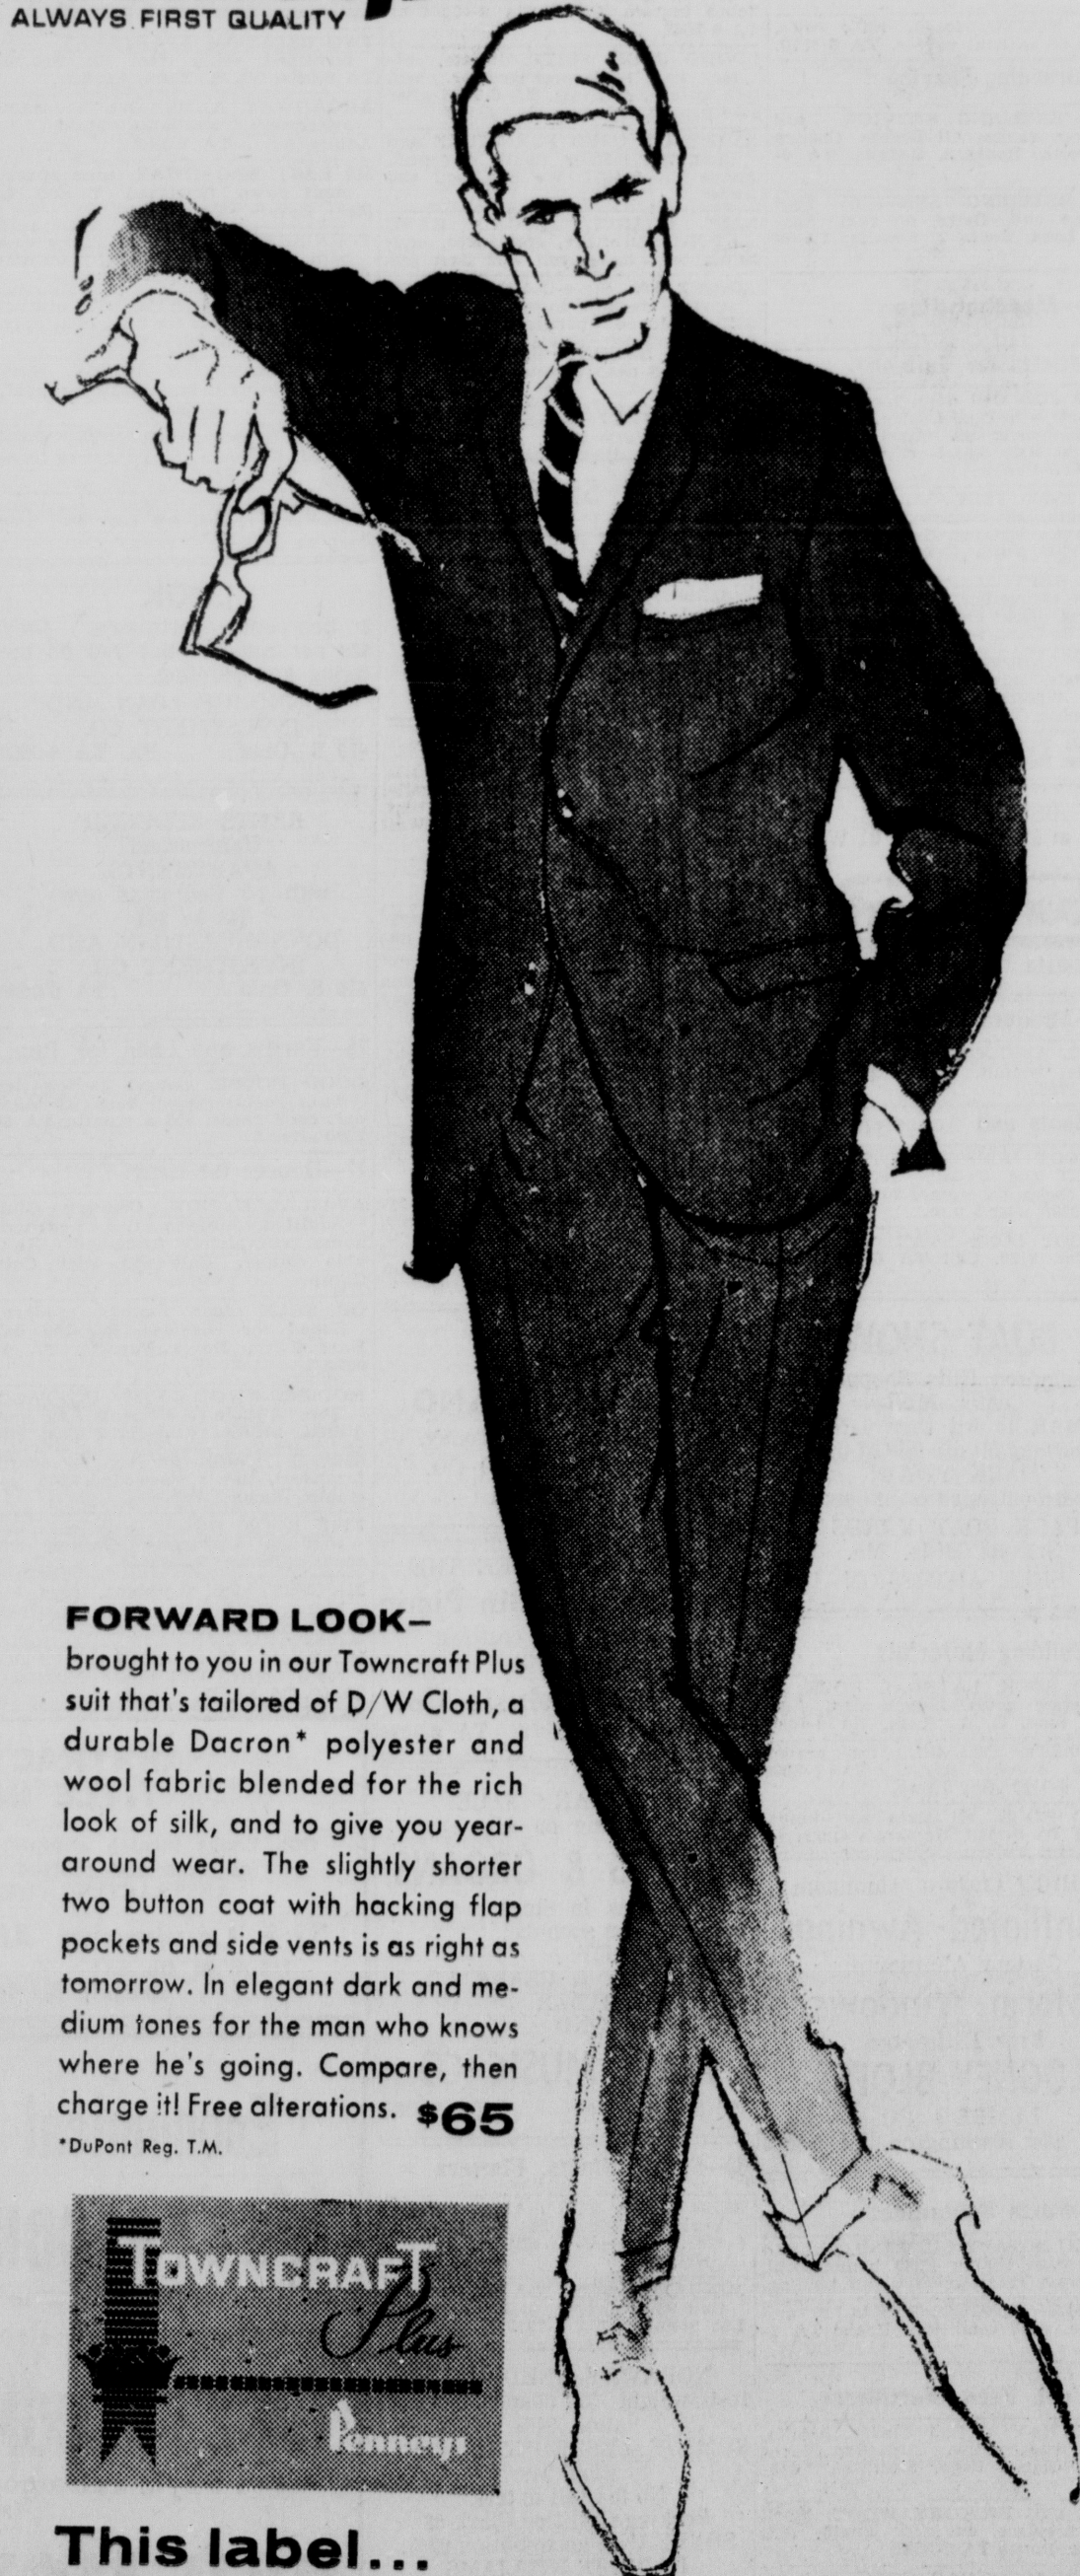

"I was watching a monitor at the rear of the store and saw him steal the shirt," Patricia Pharis, 19, an employee, testified at the trial.

"I didn't know I was on camera," Rhinehardt told the judge.

Following the meeting refreshments were served.
